THE DISAPPEARING WORLD SERIES

Visit us at Booth
#108
for details!

Disappearing World provides a precious record of the social structures, beliefs, and practices of societies confronting change and in some cases facing extinction by the pressures of our expanding technocratic civilization. Traveling to remote corners of five continents, film crews worked in close association with anthropologists who have done extensive field work living with the societies concerned. The result is a series of accurate, enlightening portraits in which the people, their values, and their behavior are allowed to speak for themselves.

Where Do We Go From Here?

Adaptation. It's the key word in the evolution of all species. Yet how do humans adapt to changes of their own making?

With this in mind, HarperCollins introduces an important new introductory text: Anthropology: Understanding Human Adaptation, by Michael C. Howard and Janet Dunaif-Hattis. Through a clear focus on selected contemporary societies and practical insights on major world problems, this thought-provoking text heightens students' social consciousness.

And, in addition to innovative titles like this one, HarperCollins offers new editions of other classic texts as well. Because the past, present, and future are inseparable.

Available now.

Understanding culture and change!

SEAGULLS DON'T FLY INTO THE BUSH: Cultural Identity and Development in Melanesia

by Alice Pomponio, St. Lawrence University

Focusing on cultural rather than economic issues, the author explores how the Mandok Islanders of Papua New Guinea use their spirit, imagination, and determination to succeed in the face of development beyond their control. This serious ethnography is accessible and engaging reading for undergraduates. Available now.

Understanding the applications of the computer!

COMPUTER APPLICATIONS FOR ANTHROPOLOGISTS

by Margaret S. Boone, George Washington University, and John J. Wood, Northern Arizona University

How are mainframes and microcomputers changing work in ethnology, archaeology, and physical anthropology? Leading anthropologists who use computers in their research describe their experiences in this groundbreaking text. ## Colonial Situations

Essays on the Contextualization of Ethnographic Knowledge

The Blood Libel Legend

A Casebook in Anti-Semitic Folklore

Edited by Alan Dundes

Demonstrating the power of folklore to influence thought and history, this casebook of the blood libel legend—which blamed the murder of Christian children on Jews—offers a forceful statement against this false accusation. The legend, its varied sources, and its elaborations are traced from England in 1144 through twentieth-century America.

Pilgrim Path

The First Company of Women Missionaries to Hawaii

Mary Zwiep

Paul Bohannan

NOW ON DISPLAY • WAVELAND PRESS

In 1992, discover the Old World.

The Royal Anthropological Institute, like the AAA, supports a broad definition of anthropology. Publisher of the world-class journal Man, the RAI is also known for its innovatory work, such as the bimonthly Anthropology Today, its International Festivals of Ethnographic Film, the third of which will be held in Manchester in September 1992, and a project concerning the ethnography of children which is currently being planned.

JOIN US!

Individual Fellows of the Institute receive Man 4 times a year, and Anthropology Today 6 times a year, for US$73 (1992 overseas rate). Junior Fellows (under 28): US$42.

Alternatively, 'Members' receive Anthropology Today alone for US$22. You may pay by Visa or Access/Mastercard credit cards, or by £ or US$ check. Members of the AAA's General Anthropology Division may subscribe to the 1992 Anthropology Today for only US$17 if they order through the AAA's billing system (for details, see AAA Anthropology Newsletter, October 1991 issue).

For specimen copies of the journals, full subscription information and Fellowship/Membership application forms, write to RAI, 50 Fitzroy Street, London W1P 5HS, UK.
