The Society for Visual Anthropology Film/Video Festival A Short History

Fadwa El Guindi (President, Society for Visual Anthropology)
Joan Williams (Film Festival Organizer)

This year the American Anthropological Association (AAA) is celebrating the tenth anniversary of the Society for Visual Anthropology (SVA) Film and Video Festival and Award Ceremony. Ten years ago, at the 1985 AAA annual meeting, Jack Rollwagen, then-outgoing SVA president, proposed the idea of developing a film festival designed to give recognition to films and videos with strong anthropological substance and good technical quality. The winning films were to be presented and screened at the annual meeting. Prior to this, the AAA had been sponsoring film screenings, an activity which continues to this day as a parallel event to the Festival.

Acting on Jack's idea, SVA formed a working jury of nine who met at the Anthropology Film Center in Santa Fe in May. The members were Thomas Blakely (1986 SVA President), Allison Jablonko (SVA Treasurer), Elliot Lieb, Don Rundstrom, Nancy Schmidt, Joan Williams, Tim Asch (SVA Newsletter Editor), and two outside jurors, Patsy Asch and Emilie de Brigrard.

The goal of the Santa Fe conference was to refine the purpose and concept of the Festival. Debate and discussion resulted in the development of an evaluation form incorporating the jurors' personal criteria for organizing and rating. A number of important qualities were identified: technical competency, the film's relevance to anthropological objectives, clarity of the filmmaker's intent, the quality of the filmmaker's relationship to the people or event filmed, a film's usefulness in teaching anthropology, a film's value for practical (applied) work with communities or individuals, a film's success in the analysis of nonverbal communication, a film's success in communicating anthropological ideas to a wider public, and finally, the degree to which a film/video furthered cultural equity and addressed contemporary issues and problems.

The group screened 27 films and videotapes, with a total running time of 21 hours. Films were grouped for screening on the basis of running time, and subject matter was divided into historical, medical (healing) folklore/folklife, contemporary social issues, experimental, animation and documentary studies of people/processes/events within an ethnographic framework. Naturally, many films/videos overlapped categories, and ultimately each was considered on its own merit against the whole group of contestants.

After some debate over the nature and number of awards, it was decided to offer an "Award for Excellence" accompanied by a written Commendation for each of the films and videos evaluated as outstanding. Allison Jablonko summarized the collective evaluations and wrote a Commendation for each of the nine selected films for that year.

To cover the costs for this process, external funding was successfully sought from a number of sources: film competition entry fees ($500), a generous donation from an Anthropology Film Center graduate ($1000), and support from the Wenner-Gren Foundation ($1500) specifically granted to partially cover travel and lodging for jury participants in the Santa Fe conference.

The Santa Fe conference was a success. The SVA Film Festival and Award Ceremony was instituted, and since 1986 has been a significant presence at the AAA annual meetings. All aspects of the Festival continue to grow each year; the number of entries has increased from 27 in 1986 to 50 in 1995. Submissions continue to be of top quality and show great diversity. Student entries have increased, and Award categories expanded from one to four, to accommodate the jurors' sense of differing levels of achievement and success in a genre requiring command of both anthropology and film as systems of knowledge and communication. The SVA Film/Video Awards are the Award for Excellence, Honorable Mention, Student Award, and Life Achievement Award. Jurying for SVA is unique, and is a process that continues to evolve and mature.

During the years after the initial call for entries in 1986, the discipline of anthropology has seen a gradual shift from mostly print-oriented work to more visual materials. Film screenings, which at first were considered a marginal activity, evolved into an annual Film Festival and Award Ceremony that filmmakers, videomakers, and anthropologists of all types look forward to. Along with visual-related sessions and the Visual Research Conference, the Festival has become an integral activity in the annual AAA meeting program.

To mark the occasion of the 10th Anniversary, the Society for Visual Anthropology is organizing a new activity, "Open Viewing: Film/Video Library," at the AAA annual meeting. It is a forum in which many hours during the meeting will be made available for individually tailored private viewing of films and videos selected from the newly instituted Library, which carries all the award-winning films and videos from the past 10 years.

Since the beginning, jurors have given generously of their time and creativity, viewing a grueling load of film and video screenings, engaging in critical discussion and evaluation. This year, as we celebrate the 10th anniversary, the AAA recognizes the pioneering role of all those who have contributed to the success of the idea proposed in 1985 and the effort by Film Festival Organizer Joan Williams and many filmmakers and anthropologists in turning it into reality.

NEW FROM FLORIDA

The Enchanted Amazon Rain Forest: Stories from a Vanishing World

Nigel J. H. Smith

"A masterpiece. . . . In beautiful and readable prose, the author has deftly shown how folk beliefs, myths, and superstitions regulate lives and activities in primitive societies and how they often contribute to environmental conservation."—Richard Evans Schultes, Harvard Botanical Museum
January. 208 pp. Cloth $29.95

Music of the Warao of Venezuela: Song People of the Rain Forest

Dale A. Olsen

Compact disc included!

"An excellent balance of musical, cultural, historical, and mythological analysis. . . . A major contribution to the organology of Latin American Native American music-cultures."—John M. Schechter, University of California, Santa Cruz
April. 480 pp. Cloth $49.95

Fifty Years of Southeastern Archaeology: Selected Works of John W. Griffin

Edited by Patricia C. Griffin

"Not only charts the trajectory of a distinguished Floridian's remarkable career, but also chronicles much that has happened in North American archaeology over the past sixty years. . . . [John Griffin's] work shaped archaeology in Florida and influenced the development of the field of historical archaeology in general."—Kathleen Deagan, Florida Museum of Natural History
January. 272 pp. Cloth $39.95

The Culture and Technology of African Iron Production

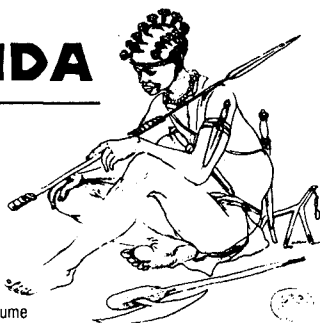

Edited by Peter R. Schmidt

"An extraordinarily informative volume that examines the technical aspects of iron production in Africa, both prehistoric and recent, and the cultural modes of behavior surrounding iron working."—Thomas H. Wilson, director, Southwest Museum, Los Angeles
January. 352 pp. Cloth $49.95

Science, Materialism, and the Study of Culture

Edited by Martin F. Murphy and Maxine L. Margolis

"Well-argued, clearly written essays by anthropologists committed to understanding culture through theoretically grounded analysis of its material underpinnings. The authors' impassioned call for an anthropology that addresses pressing social problems—exploitation, inequality, violence, hunger, and underdevelopment—is a welcome counterweight to studies that view power primarily as discourse or poetics."—Marc Edelman, Hunter College and the Graduate Center, CUNY
256 pp. Cloth, $49.95 Paper $19.95

How to Do Archaeology the Right Way

Barbara A. Purdy

"Provides a sense of what it really means to be a professional archaeologist, how we go about doing that which we do, and the benefit to the broader public from our doing what we do in the manner in which we do it. . . . Will help improve the public's understanding of the fragile nature of archaeological resources."—Louis D. Tesar, Bureau of Archaeological Research, Florida Department of State
March. 216 pp. Cloth $29.95

Florida Indians and the Invasion from Europe

Jerald T. Milanich

"An authoritative overview of the development of Florida's aboriginal peoples . . . particularly valuable for its use of archaeological and historical data."—John H. Hann, San Luis Archaeological and Historic Site, Tallahassee 309 pp. Cloth, $29.95

THE BRYGGEN PAPERS
 Supplementary Series No. 5

The Bryggen Papers is a series of scholarly publications on the archeological finds from the excavations at Bryggen - the German Wharf - in Bergen, Norway. This volume discusses the origins and uses of medieval pottery found at Bryggen, the main trends in the development of the commonest dog types, and the development and use of sanitary arrangements through the middle ages.

Where Anthropology Lives

William A. Haviland University of Vermont

Cultural Anthropology, Eighth Edition

The standard introductory text for the study of anthropology, Cultural Anthropology constantly evolves with the discipline, sharing those changes with inquisitive students. Here are a few of the reasons why Haviland's Cultural Anthropology has become the leading text for a generation of students:

- Gender-related issues are integrated into every chapter; kinship diagrams employ sex-neutral egos wherever practical; and many more Original Studies are by women.
- Extensively revised and additional material throughout the book introduces topics such as cultural relativism; language origins; a new discussion of money; meanings of the word "tribe" in many contexts; and updating of every chapter.
- Increased attention to issues of anthropology, humanities, and ethics is evident in discussions of U.S. political debates over art funding and a new discussion of pictorial art; and a revised report on the human rights situation in Guatemala.

The University of New Mexico

Where can you survey some of the best research articles, debates and reviews in ALL of Anthropology?
Why, in the

JOURNAL OF ANTHROPOLOGICAL RESEARCH

Published quarterly since 1945 in the interest of general anthropology by the University of New Mexico.

And, while the contents are priceless, the subscriptions are inexpensive—still US $24 for individuals and US $40 for institutions.

Recent issues have included articles on

- The future of Anthropology
- The cultural adaptations of late, evolving Neandertals in Croatia
- Ape tool use
- Navajo healing
- Hohokam obsidian exchange
- Exploring gender in the archeology of the American Southwest

Upcoming issues will deal with

- Women, work and kinship around the world
- The Mountain Arapesh and the "Westermarck Effect"
- The Tuareg and food
- Brazilian racial categories
- Macroevolutionary theory and hominid origins
- Rural Japanese ritual

To subscribe:

Write to JAR Subscriptions Manager, Dept. of Anthropology,
University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131-1086
(Specify "AAA ad")

To submit original research manuscripts:
Contact Professor Lawrence Straus, Editor,
at the same address.

Burton, Frances D. , ed.

SOCIAL PROCESSES AND MENTAL ABILITIES IN NON-HUMAN PRIMATES: Evidences from Longitudinal Field Studies

This anthropological inquiry into the nature of non-human primates considers group social dynamics, organization and behavior as local phenomena with transcendent properties. Rejects the neo-Darwinian view that social behavior is subject to natural selection and that genetic determinism underlies manifest patterns. New models are introduced concerning: where behavior lies (Paterson, Hornshaw); what the meaning of proximal domain of behavior is to the actors (Burton); problems of epistemology within primate studies that have sent primatologists off track (Chan, Hornshaw, Burton, Zeller); nature of interaction among young female orangutans and the history of the development of solitary patterns (Galdikas); and how patterns of communication code intricate, complex information of social significance (Burton, Zeller). Includes maps, photographs, glossary of technical terms, and a joint bibliography with chapter numbers.

"This book presents a number of new perspectives on a timely topic. Its greatest strengths are in discussion of local group tradition and the inclusion of the chapters questioning the methodology and assumptions used to study social cognition. . . . a valuable resource to students interested in social cognition, and should be especially useful for graduate seminar discussions. Moreover, the models presented could be potentially expanded into testable hypotheses provided an impetus for further research." -- Mara Arguete in American Journal of Primatology

MANHOOD IN AMERICA

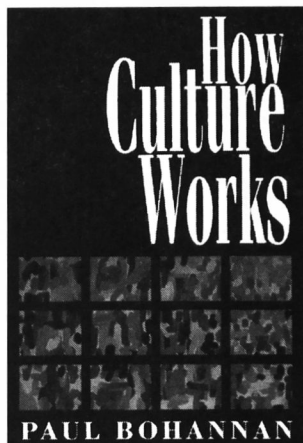

A Cultural History

Michael Kimmel

“A rare combination of a good read and first-rate scholarship. Relying on a wide variety of sources, the author presents a fascinating examination of the many changes in the meaning of manhood over the last two centuries. In the process, he shows us also how the pulse of the nation can be read through its shifting ideals of manhood. This book is must reading for every man who wants to understand himself and his struggles to live up to modern definitions of manhood and masculinity.”

—Lillian B. Rubin

1995 ISBN: 0-02-874067-X $27.00

HOW CULTURE WORKS

Paul Bohannan

“Anyone fascinated with how things really work will relish Paul Bohannan’s illuminating portrayal of two-somes, three-somes, chains, lock-ins, traps, and turbulence. Such clear and beautiful prose is always a joy to read, but this book also challenges us to renew, revitalize, and reevaluate how culture works.”

—Martha C. Ward,
University of New Orleans

1995 ISBN: 0-02-904505-3 $24.95

QUARRY

Closing in on the Missing Link

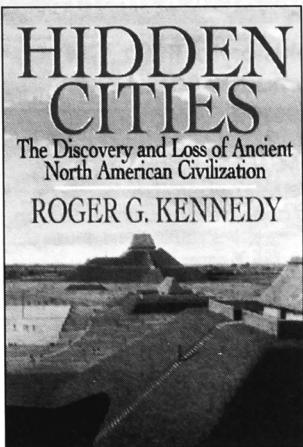

Noel T. Boaz

“Both excellent science and a great read. Boaz has captured all the excitement of a scientist digging in the heart of Africa, and woven into his adventures are all the contemporary arguments and colorful personalities of paleoanthropology. Most important, Boaz offers some compelling new ideas about this highly controversial topic—the origins of humankind.”

—Helen Fisher, author of
The Anatomy of Love: The Natural History of Monogamy, Adultery, and Divorce

1993 ISBN: 0-02-904501-0 $24.95

HIDDEN CITIES

The Discovery and Loss of Ancient North American Civilizations
Roger G. Kennedy

“The world of the first Americans was richer, greater, more wondrous by far than most of us have ever imagined or than most histories have ever even implied. The reader will move through this energetic, provocative survey by Roger Kennedy with continuing amazement. A splendid, vivid book.”

—David McCullough

1994 ISBN: 0-02-917307-8 $24.95

THE FALL OF THE ASANTE EMPIRE

The Hundred-Year War for Africa's Gold Coast

Robert B. Edgerton

“Edgerton significantly adds to our empirical knowledge of African state societies in their continent—wide resistance to oppressive European, colonial expansion. We see not only resistance and impressive cultural accomplishment, but also the cruel dynamics of class stratification at work, often with sadness at our seemingly universal condition.”

—Philip L. Kilbride, Bryn Mawr College, author of Changing Family Life in East Africa and Encounters with American Ethnic Culture

Films for Anthropological Teaching

8th edition, 1995

AAA Special Publication #29

- Survey archaeological finds in Lucy in Disguise and A Tale of Two Rivers.
- Observe primate behavior in Island of the Moon and Miss Goodall and the Wild Chimpanzees.
- Study human communication in Hungarian X-Ray Film and Not to Lose You My Language.
- Delve into ancient cultures in Caracol: The Lost Maya City and Carthage: A Mirage of Antiquity.
- Investigate social conflict in The Cows of Dolo Ken Paye and Sophia's People.
- Study the management of physical ailments in Absolutely Positive and The Return of Dr. Fritz.
- Sample cultural performance in Say, Old Man, Can You Play the Fiddle? and Learning to Dance in Bali.
- Examine American culture in Pizza Pizza Daddy-O and God's Country.
- Explore Western child-rearing in Total Baby and Eastern courting in Love Songs of the Miao.

You'll find all these film and film series titles —and 3,000 more—catalogued in the latest edition of Films for Anthropological Teaching. In addition to an alphabetical listing with production and distribution information, there are also helpful indexes by subject and by geographical area. With film warnings, noncritical film descriptions, and quotes from critical reviews included, this catalog will be of great use to anthropology teachers throughout the four subdisciplines.

The price is $19.95 for AAA members and $24.95 for all others (4th-class shipping is included). For information on bulk orders (10 or more) or to place an order with Visa or MasterCard, call: 703/528-1902, ext. 3031. Or to order, send a check or money order to:

American Anthropologist

Special Introductory Offer

For $20, a current AAA member who is not receiving the American Anthropologist may choose a one-year subscription (four issues) to AMERICAN ANTHROPOLOGIST. The offer expires December 31, 1995.

The new design is just one part of the effort to increase the journal's attractiveness to AAA members and other anthropologists. The range of articles has been expanded, and the writing is accessible to anthropologists regardless of subspecialty. The goal is to make AMERICAN ANTHROPOLOGIST once again the flagship journal of the Association and the discipline. Your interest and support will help attain that goal.

AMERICAN ANTHROPOLOGIST publishes articles integrating anthropological information and articles on new methods of investigation, new research and interpretation, and public policy issues. The journal also has comprehensive sections of reviews of important books, films, and exhibits on anthropology.

To receive AMERICAN ANTHROPOLOGIST at the introductory rate of $20, you must be an AAA member not currently receiving the journal. Please send this form to:

USEFUL PHRASES

This is what we call 'fieldwork'.

Is there any mistake in this genealogy?

When my first article is published in the Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute, it will be a great day for me.

Often a local person knows better than the anthropologist.

Knowledge of a language is never perfect.

Can you please return the copy of Anthropology Today which I lent you? I haven't read it all yet.

May I note down an account of your dream last night?

How do I look in these clothes?

I would not be able to keep up with current events in anthropology, if I did not subscribe to Anthropology Today.

Do you believe that the spirits exist, or do you merely assent to the prevailing view?

Please identify that bird-song.

If a book is well reviewed in the Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute, sales are likely to follow.

I am testing out some of my professor's theories.

Doesn't the Internet mean that well-edited journals such as the JRAI and Anthropology Today will become more, not less, important?

The quarterly Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute (incorporating Man) and the bimonthly Anthropology Today are the Royal Anthropological Institute's principal commitments to anthropology. Both are included in the Overseas Fellows' subscription of $83 (for 1996) or Junior Fellows' rate of $48 (for those under 30 on 1.1.96). 'Members' receive Anthropology Today only for $25, Library subscriptions are $144 for JRAI, $49 for Anthropology Today. You may pay by Visa or Access/MasterCard or American Express, or by a US$ or sterling check. Enquiries to RAI, 50 Fitzroy Street, London W1P 5HS, U.K. (tel. (+44)171-387 0455, fax (+44)171 383 4235.
