Topic Index

The following indexes scientific sessions by general topic. It is not an index of individual papers but a guide to sessions treating these topics. It should also be noted that this index is largely compiled from key words supplied by authors. This accounts for some inconsistencies in coverage.

EXOTIC NO MORE

Anthropology on the Front Lines

Edited by Jeremy MacClancy

In this volume, some of today's most respected anthropologists demonstrate the tremendous contributions that anthropology can make to contemporary society. They cover issues ranging from fundamentalism to forced migration, child labor to crack dealing, human rights to hunger, ethnicity to environmentalism, intellectual property rights to international capitalisms. Throughout the book, the contributors highlight anthropology's commitment to taking people seriously on their own terms, paying close attention to what they are saying and doing, and trying to understand how they see the world and why. Sometimes this bottom-up perspective makes the strange familiar, but it can also make the familiar strange, exposing the cultural basis of seemingly "natural" behaviors and challenging us to rethink some of our most cherished ideas—about gender, "free" markets, "race," and "refugees," among many others.

Gesture, Gender, Nation Dance and Social Change in Uzbekistan

By Mary Masayo Doi

The national dancers of Uzbekistan are almost always female. In a society that has been Muslim for nearly 700 years, why and how did unveiled female dancers become a beloved national icon during the Soviet period? The author argues that dancers, as symbolic "girls" or unmarried females in the Uzbek kinship system, are effective mediators between extended kin groups, and the Uzbek nation-state.

Native Peoples of the Southwest

Negotiating Land, Water, and Ethnicities

Edited by Laurie Weinstein

Native Peoples of the Americas

Beginning with a discussion of the prehistoric background of farming and water use, the book then moves to a discussion on present day relations among the peoples of the Southwest and contemporary litigation over land and water resources.

Emerging Histories in Madagascar

a special issue of Ethnohistory
volume 48, numbers 1-2

This collection introduces new insights on the interface between anthropology and history in Madagascar. Both Malagasy and foreign perspectives are shown to intertwine in complex dynamics and tensions over landscapes, plant eradication, identity formation, burial practices, rituals, and the meaning of history.

Editor: Neil L. Whitehead

Visual Cultures of Japanese Imperialism

a special issue of positions
volume 8, number 3

This special issue examines the integral role that visual culture played both in representing and in constituting the imperial reality of Japan from the beginning of the Meiji Period to the Pacific War.

Editor: Gennifer Weisenfeld

The Critical Limits of Embodiment: Reflections on Disability Criticism

a special issue of Public Culture
volume 13, number 3

Building on recent work in the larger arena of disability studies, this special issue addresses such subjects as the hegemony of the concept of normalcy, the idea of the able body, and the constitutive place of disability in ethics, liberalism, and capitalism. Contributors include Veena Das, Faye Ginsburg, and Rayna Rapp.

Editors: Carol A. Breckenridge and Candace Vogler

ANNOUNCING TWO NEW SERIES!

New World Diasporas

Kevin A. Yelvington, Series Editor

This series seeks to stimulate critical perspectives on diaspora processes in the New World. Representations of "race" and ethnicity, the origins and consequences of nationalism, migratory streams and the advent of transnationalism, the dialectics of "homelands" and diasporas, trade networks, gender relations in immigrant communities, the politics of displacement and exile, and the utilization of the past to serve the present are among the phenomena addressed by original, provocative research in disciplines such as anthropology, history, political science, and sociology.

Cultural Heritage Studies

Paul A. Shackel, Series Editor

The study of heritage is a relatively new and exciting field. This thematic series in Cultural Heritage Studies brings together research devoted to understanding the material and behavioral characteristics of heritage and its uses. The series explores the uses of heritage and the meaning of its cultural forms as a way to interpret the present and the past. These books address questions related to culture and describe how communities value the past. The series includes works in public archaeology, heritage tourism, museum studies, vernacular architecture, history, and material culture studies.

Writing on Ice

The Ethnographic Notebooks

of Vilhjalmur Stefansson

An extensive account of the often elusive anthropology of a famed Arctic explorer.

Both in his time and since his death, the legend of explorer Vilhjalmur Stefansson has eclipsed his contributions as a pioneering anthropologist. Utilizing his fieldwork diaries now at Dartmouth, and contemporary photographs and sketches, some never before published, Gísli Pálsson, Director of the University of Iceland Institute of Anthropology, brings to life the anthropology of this controversial man. He situates the diaries in the context of that era's anthropological practice, early 20th-century expeditionary power relations, and the North American community surrounding Stefansson. He examines the tension between the rhetoric of ethnography and exploration and the reality of fieldwork and exploration, partly with reference to Stefansson's silence about his Inuit family, and shows that Stefansson was a keen, precise, and sympathetic observer of the indigenous people he encountered.

If These Pots Could Talk

Collecting 2,000 Years of British Household Pottery

IVOR NOËL HUME, O.B.E., F.S.A.

An archaeologist and social historian brings British history to life.

"From the Romans in Britain to the Queen Mother's 100th birthday celebration, this book is not just about pots but about the people who made and used them, and the events they commemorate. Comprising elements of a detective story, a historical narrative, and the history of ceramic technology, this book has something for everyone . . . Ivor Noël Hume has shown us that, indeed, pots do talk if only we can understand their language." —BLY STRAUB, Jamestown Rediscovery,

Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities

A Chipstone Foundation book. 472 pp. 660 illus. (560 color). $65.00 until 1/1/02; then $75.00

A SOCIAL HISTORY OF ANTHROPOLOGY IN THE UNITED STATES

Thomas C. Patterson

'(Patterson) has demonstrated not only the impact that American Society has had on anthropology but also the significant impact that anthropology has had on American society. His book is a powerful wake-up call for American anthropologists to stop playing second-fiddle to cultural studies and resume their multifaceted dialogue with the American people.'

The Professional Stranger

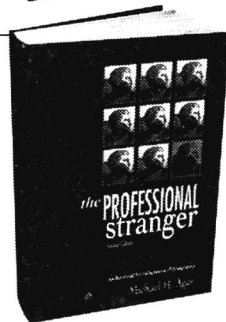

An Informal Introduction to Ethnography

Michael H. Agar

"An intriguing and exciting little book...The range of methodological issues covered by Agar is impressive and thorough. Moreover, although he writes primarily for students in anthropology, Agar weaves into his discussion important methodological texts and articles from many social science disciplines, thus making his volume a concise reference for guiding students to further reading on particular issues...As an 'informal introduction, the book covers more ground than the subtitle suggests, ground enough to serve as an important stimulus and guide for students of ethnography both in sociology and in other social disciplines."

Celebrate the Margaret Mead Centennial • 2001

New Editions of Margaret Mead's Classic Works Are Available

Coming of Age in Samoa

A Psychological Study of Primitive Youth for Western Civilization

With an Introduction by Mary Pipher, Ph.D.

Focusing on adolescent girls, this book presents the idea that the psychological experience of developmental stages can be shaped by cultural demands and expectations.

Growing Up in New Guinea

A Comparative Study of Primitive Education

With an Introduction by Howard Gardner, Ph.D.

Mead studied the play and imaginations of younger children, and how they were shaped by adult society.

Letters from the Field, 1925-1975

With an Introduction by Jan Morris

Enhanced by more than 100 photographs, Mead's letters illustrate "the unique, but also cumulative, experience of immersing oneself in the on-going life of another people."

New Lives for Old

Cultural Transformation—Manus, 1928-1953

With an Introduction by Stewart Brand

"This was not a book about how cultures are eroded and damaged by change, but about the possibility of a society choosing change and giving direction to their own futures."—Mary Catherine Bateson

Sex & Temperament in Three Primitive Societies

With an Introduction by Helen Fisher, Ph.D.

Mead advances the theory that masculine and feminine characteristics are not based on fundamental sex differences, but reflect the cultural conditioning of different societies.
