Topic Index

The following indexes scientific sessions by general topic. It is not an index of individual papers but a guide to sessions treating these topics. It should also be noted that this index is largely compiled from key words supplied by authors. This accounts for some inconsistencies in coverage.

The Sari

Mukulika Banerjee and Daniel Miller
$39.95 cloth

"An enthralling celebration, exploration and analysis—through women's voices—of India's most symbolic garment...The women's stories enrich throughout, successfully and unforgettably bringing the sari alive. Banerjee and Miller have provided an intimate peek into the culture of Indian women, and their research shows that although the subject is specific to a particular culture, its concerns are universal to all women." — Publisher's Weekly

Linking to the Past

A Brief Introduction to Archaeology

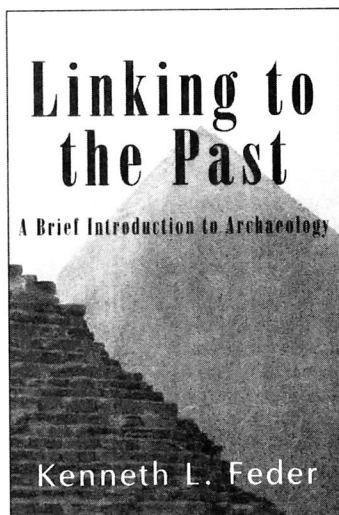

Includes CD-ROM

KENNETH L. FEDER, Central Connecticut State University

Featuring an innovative hyperlink (web-like) format of interconnected ideas, anecdotes, and lessons, Linking to the Past provides an exciting introduction to archaeology with an emphasis on practical issues. The text's engaging narrative focuses specifically on the author's excavations, while "sidebars" address more general questions, such as: How do archaeologists find sites? and How can they trace the sources of raw materials? The accompanying CD contains the text—with embedded hyperlinks to the sidebars—and also includes glossary terms with pronunciations, an image bank of color photos, and suggestions for further reading.

Ideal for introductory courses in archaeology, Linking to the Past presents an account of the author's excavation and analysis of an ancient North American village site. This narrative is integrated with an overview of the methods archaeologists use to find, recover, study, and interpret the material culture left behind by past generations. The book describes how recovered objects such as bones, seeds, stone flakes, and ceramic fragments can lend insight into the occupations, dwellings, diets, social relationships, religious practices, and physical characteristics of people who lived in the past. It also addresses many practical aspects of archaeological research, including methods for identification and excavation of sites, absolute and relative dating of objects, and recording and reporting of archaeological findings.

All the Worlds of Anthropology

Current Anthropology is a transnational journal devoted to research on humankind, encompassing the full range of anthropological scholarship on human cultures and on the human and other primate species. CA features papers in a wide variety of areas, including social, cultural, and biological anthropology as well as ethnology and ethnohistory, archaeology and prehistory, folklore, and linguistics.

The CA treatment: international commentators write critiques that appear in the same issue as the article, along with a reply from the author.

Current Anthropology presents two forums as a way of stimulating debate:

Forum on Anthropology in Public concerns the involvement of anthropology in public issues or the interactions of anthropology with the wider society.

Forum on Theory in Anthropology presents contending arguments on theoretical issues of importance to anthropology.

Body & Soul

LOÏC WACQUANT

"With a sociological imagination inspired by Bourdieu and writing that is electric, Wacquant brings to life the pain, sweat, and discipline of boxing, as well as the vivid language, small triumphs, and gritty masculine comradery of those who devote themselves to it in rundown gyms on Chicago's South Side. With respect and affection for those who mentored him, he takes us into a lifeworld that offers to some an alternative to the deadly streets of urban wastelands."—Lila Abu-Lughod, author of Veiled Sentiments

The Ceremonial Animal

A New Portrait of Anthropology
WENDY JAMES

Adapting Wittgenstein's concept of the human species as 'a ceremonial animal', Wendy James lucidly argues that the concept of social form is a primary key to anthropology and the human sciences as a whole.

The Royal Anthropological Institute

The Royal Anthropological Institute is the oldest anthropological organisation in the world, with a global membership. Since 1843, it has been at the forefront of new developments in anthropology and new means of communication. Providing a forum for 'anthropology as a whole', it embraces social anthropology, archaeology, biological anthropology and the study of material culture. The Institute welcomes all who have an enthusiasm for anthropology. Join the RAI for access to:

LEADING EDGE PUBLICATIONS:

The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute

4 issues per year
