JOURNALS FROM equinox

Fieldwork in Religion

A new, peer reviewed, interdisciplinary journal seeking engagement between scholars carrying out empirical research in religion. The journal promotes critical investigation into all aspects of the empirical study of contemporary religion. It is not limited to the fields of anthropology and ethnography but seeks to promote empirical study of religion in all disciplines: religious studies, anthropology, ethnography, sociology, psychology, folklore, and cultural studies. A further aim is to encourage the discussion of fieldwork methodology through articles on issues of methodology or through fieldwork case studies that include methodological challenges and the impact of methodology on the results of empirical research.

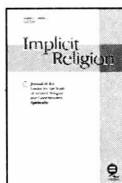

Volume 1, 2005 • 3 issues per year
ISSN 1743-0615 (print), ISSN 1743-0623 (online)

The Pomegranate The International Journal of Pagan Studies

The first International, peer-reviewed journal of Pagan studies, seeking new interpretations and re-examinations of those traditions marked both by an emphasis on nature as a source of sacred value (eg, Wicca, modern Goddess religions) as well as those emphasizing continuity with a polytheistic past (eg, Ásatrú or other forms of 'reconstructionist' Paganism). The journal also explores the interplay between Pagan religious traditions, popular culture, literature, psychology and the arts. Includes reviews.

Volume 6, 2004 • 2 issues per year

Implicit Religion

The aim of Implicit Religion is to enhance our understanding of human behaviour, through insights developed by the academic study of religion. This international journal welcomes papers on theory and evidence in the study of religion and secularity, and those that explore the relationship between the context and dynamism of religious and secular phenomena. It is particularly concerned with religious life outside the boundaries of churches or organized religion in post-modernity. Includes reviews.

Volume 7, 2004 • 3 issues per year
ISSN 1476-8690 (print), ISSN 1743-1697 (online)

Institutional subscriptions include online access

ALSO ANNOUNCING

Australian Religion Studies Review

Coastal Collectors in the Holocene

The Chantuto People of Southwest Mexico

Barbara Voorhies

"Summarizes almost three decades of archaeological research into the lifeways of the Late Archaic Chantuto people of Chiapas. . . . It provides insights into a little-known coastal adaptation during the important period in Mesoamerican prehistory when agriculture and permanent villages were being developed to replace a longstanding lifeway based on nomadic hunting and wild plant food gathering."—Robert N. Zeitlin, Brandeis University
Cloth $69.95

NEW, RECENT,
& FORTHCOMING TEXTS

"Race" Is a Four-Letter Word

The Genesis of the Concept

C. LORING BRACE

- A tour de force history that explains why the concept of race is biologically indefensible
- Ideal for courses that explore the history of the concept of race in America and how it grew to become accepted as something that virtually everyone regards as self-evident
- Examines the course of events that created the concept, journeying from Herodotus through Marco Polo, to the Renaissance and the role of the New World, on up to the American Civil War, World War I, Arthur Jensen, the Bell Curve, J. Phillippe Rushton, and the Pioneer Fund in the twenty-first century

December 2004 352 pp.; 24 illus. & 6 maps paper / cloth

Learning Capoeira

Lessons in Cunning from an Afro-Brazilian Art

GREG DOWNEY

- Offers a portrait of the cultural world surrounding capoeira, a spectacular Afro-Brazilian acrobatic art that combines dance, ritual, music, and fighting style and makes practitioners cunning and streetwise
- Provides an ethnographic study of lessons from veteran capoeira teachers in Brazil, capturing the ways in which they pass on the art to future generations
- Brings together an experience-centered analysis of capoeira with recent discoveries in psychology and the neurosciences about the effects of physical education on perception

December 2004 256 pp.; 21 illus. paper / cloth

The Human Strategy

An Evolutionary Perspective on Human Anatomy

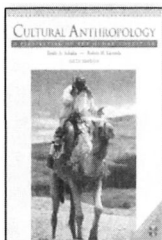

JOHN H. LANGDON

- Bridges the disciplines of anthropology and biology to address the question: "What functions are represented in the body structure and what history lies behind them?" and frames the answers in terms of physiological goals, functional adaptation, and evolutionary contingency
- Covers both soft-tissue and hard-tissue systems, taking a more complete look at the human body in an evolutionary sense than any other text
- Incorporates the most current research in the field, a comprehensive glossary, an extensive bibliography, and more than 250 illustrations

February 2005 416 pp.; 264 illus. cloth

- Concludes with a unique chapter that describes five of the world's most influential religions

2004 496 pp.; 14 illus. paper / cloth

Linking to the Past

A Brief Introduction to Archaeology

Includes CD-ROM

KENNETH L. FEDER

- Features an innovative "hyper-link" format of interconnected ideas, anecdotes, and lessons
- Describes the archaeological excavation and analysis of a three-thousand-year-old village site, leading students into general questions about how archaeologists work
- Packaged with a CD containing the printed text, glossary terms, and an image bank of color photos

2004 384 pp.; 163 illus. paper

This Land Was Theirs

A Study of Native Americans

Seventh Edition

WENDELL H. OSWALT

- Examines both the traditional and contemporary ways of life of twelve North American Indian tribes

Rutgers University Press welcomes a new series

STUDIES IN MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY

Series Editor: Alan Harwood
University of Massachusetts, Boston

The Cambridge Studies in Medical Anthropology series is moving to Rutgers University Press. Under the Rutgers University Press imprint, Studies in Medical Anthropology will continue its tradition of publishing theoretically innovative scholarship on topics of current and fundamental concern to the field. The series will also publish a set of concisely written "theme books" that synthesize scholarship in developing areas of the field or offer new perspectives on traditional topics for undergraduate and graduate students, professionals in related disciplines, and practicing anthropologists in educational and applied settings.
