CRITICAL INTERSECTIONS

DANGEROUS ISSUES

The Annual Meeting of the American Anthropological Association provides a forum for the dissemination of knowledge and discussion. The views expressed at the sessions are solely those of the speakers, and the Association does not endorse, approve, or censor them. Descriptions of events and titles are those of the organizers, not the Association.

New from Duke University Press

The Last Frontier? The Contemporary Configuration of the U.S.-Mexico Border

a special issue of SAQ
volume 105, number 4
Special Issue Editor Jane Juffer

This special issue explores the effects of neoliberal policies on the border, contending that U.S. policies to curtail immigration and drug trafficking along the Mexican border are ineffective.

saq.dukejournals.org

The Border Next Door: New York *Migraciones

a special issue of Social Text
number 88
Special Issue Editors Carlos Ulises Decena
and Margaret Gray

Addressing how national immigration concerns play out at urban, rural, and suburban levels in the state of New York, this special issue offers new insight into an area of study that has long been focused primarily on cities.

THE SMELL CULTURE READER

Edited by Jim Drobnick

Here is a much-needed overview of what is arguably our most elusive sense. Sight and hearing have been the subject of numerous books, while the so-called "lower senses" have remained relatively unexplored despite powerful and complex social meanings. From hygiene to aromatherapy, the foul to the fragrant, smell is shown here to be much more than a physical act of perception.

THE BOOK OF TOUCH

Edited by Constance Classen

"Provides a fulfilling and imaginative traversal of the many landscapes of touch. Constance Classen's deft introductions provide both context for, and commentary on, a constellation of texts - academic and literary, historical and contemporary - whose appearance makes a major contribution to the burgeoning study of the senses."

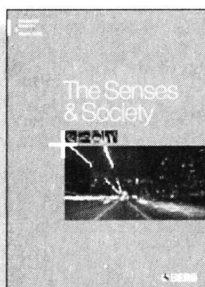

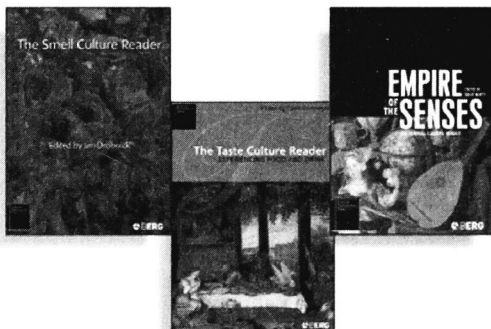

—Tim Barringer, Yale University

JOURNALS from Blackwell Publishing

4 issues per year, special (5th) issue annually from 2006!

The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute

Incorporating MAN

Published on behalf of the Royal Anthropological Institute

Editor: GLENN BOWMAN

The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute is the principal journal of the oldest anthropological organization in the world. It has attracted and inspired some of the world's greatest thinkers. International in scope, it presents accessible papers aimed at a broad anthropological readership. The Journal provides an important forum for "anthropology as a whole", embracing social anthropology, archaeology, biological anthropology and the study of material culture. It is also acclaimed for its extensive book review section. From 2006, a special (fifth) issue will appear annually. The special issue series will be guest-edited, and will address different themes on anthropology from year to year.

Anthropology Today

Also Published on behalf of the Royal Anthropological Institute

Editor: GUSTAAF HOUTMAN

Anthropology Today is a bimonthly publication which aims to provide a forum for the application of anthropological analysis to public and topical issues, while reflecting the breadth of interests within the discipline of anthropology. It is also committed to promoting debate at the interface between anthropology and areas of applied knowledge such as education, medicine and development; as well as that between anthropology and other academic disciplines.

Uncommon Sense

Understanding Nature's Truths across Time and Culture

By Anthony Aveni

These engaging essays explore various ways that ancient cultures and contemporary, non-Western societies have searched for literal truth about the natural world's mysteries from the death of the dinosaurs to the Star of Bethlehem.

The Social Experience of Childhood in Ancient Mesoamerica

New in the Mesoamerican Worlds Series

Edited by Traci Ardren and Scott Hutson

The first book about children in ancient Mesoamerica, this vital reference for Mesoamericanists offers a methodological guide for archaeologists studying children and their roles in ancient societies worldwide. Includes essays from Geoffrey G. McCafferty, Sharisse D. McCafferty, Rebecca Storey, Patricia McAnany, Stacie M. King, Jeanne Lopiparo, Rissa M. Trachman, Byron Hamann, Juan Alberto Román Berrelleza, Ximena Chávez Balderaz, Billie Follensbee, Rosemary A. Joyce, and Fred Valdez Jr.

The Carnegie Maya

*The Carnegie Institution of Washington
Maya Research Program, 1913-1957*

Edited by John M. Weeks and Jane Hill

This complete set of reports from the Carnegie Institution's Maya Program collects in one thematically and regionally organized volume hundreds of documents from history's most extensive archaeological project. The Carnegie Institution sponsored archaeological, ethnographic, linguistic, and historical investigations in the Maya region of southern Mexico and northern Central America between 1914 and 1958. Dispersed and out of print for fifty years, more than 350 reports from the Maya Program are now available in this 784-page volume and accompanying searchable CD-ROM, which is also sold separately. Materials collected here for the first time tell the history of Maya research through first-hand accounts.

Political Identity and Archaeology in Northeast Honduras

By Thomas W. Cuddy

Cuddy fills a void in the scholarship on the origins of complex societies and the Central American political landscape, drawing on previously unexamined research conducted by anthropologist William Duncan Strong during a 1933 expedition. Working with Strong's untapped fieldwork, Cuddy examines symbolic expressions to reconstruct the dynamic contexts that enabled the polities of northeast Honduras to grow while states and empires crumbled around them.

Commoner Ritual and Identity in Ancient Mesoamerica

New in the Mesoamerican Worlds Series

Edited by Nancy Gonlin & Jon C. Lohse

Were most commoners in ancient Mesoamerica poor? In a material sense, yes, probably so. Were they poor in their beliefs and culture? Certainly not, as a roster of outstanding scholars demonstrate in this new book. Taking an empirical approach to this under-studied and under-theorized area, contributors use material evidence to discover how commoner status conditioned the expression of ideas and values.
