Current Anthropology introduces

The Wenner-Gren Symposium Series

The Wenner-Gren Symposium Series is a new biannual series of supplements that publishes papers from Wenner-Gren-sponsored symposia. Each symposium brings together international scholars for discussion of topical issues in the field. Print copies of the supplements are mailed to current CA subscribers in conjunction with regularly scheduled issues of the journal. The Wenner-Gren Symposium

Series is also available electronically on the journal's site, which brings the results of leading anthropological research and debate to the widest possible audience.

The first two supplements in the series—Working Memory: Beyond Language and Symbolism and Engaged Anthropology: Diversity and Dilemmas—are currently available online. Future supplements include Corporate Lives: New Perspectives on the Social Life of the Corporate Form, The Origins of Agriculture: New Ideas and New Data, and The Biological Anthropology of Modern Human Populations: World Histories, National Styles, and International Networks.

Explore the Wenner-Gren Symposium Series online today at www.journals.uchicago.edu/CA.

The Trashing of Margaret Mead
Anatomy of an Anthropological Controversy
Paul Shankman
Foreword by Paul S. Boyer

"[A] balanced portrait of this complex and often vitriolic anthropological controversy." —Library Journal

"A superbly crafted and highly readable book that essentially lays the Mead-Freeman controversy to rest." —James Côté

In 1928 Coming of Age in Samoa transformed Margaret Mead into an academic celebrity. In 1983 anthropologist Derek Freeman's scathing critique of Mead's Samoan research badly damaged her reputation. Paul Shankman explores the many dimensions of the controversy. Providing a critical perspective on Freeman's arguments, Shankman reviews key questions about Samoan sexuality, the alleged hoaxing of Mead, and the meaning of the controversy.

Glimpses into My Own Black Box
An Exercise in Self-Deconstruction
George W. Stocking, Jr.

HISTORY OF ANTHROPOLOGY, Volume 12

George W. Stocking, Jr., has spent a professional lifetime exploring the history of anthropology, and his findings have shaped anthropologists' understanding of their field for two generations. Stocking has shown how such forces as politics, race, institutional affiliations, and personal relationships have influenced the discipline from its beginnings. In this autobiography, he turns his attention to a subject closer to home. Looking into his own "black box," he dissects his upbringing, his politics, even his motivations in writing about himself. The result is a book systematically, at times brutally, self-questioning.

This book is the twelfth and final volume of the influential History of Anthropology series.
