2-0010 Fragments: Glimpses of Haitian Life Three Years After the Earthquake

09:00–05:00 • Field Museum

Fragments: Haiti Four Years after the Earthquake,” curated by Mark Schuller for the Anthropology Museum at Northern Illinois University, is on display at The Field Museum exclusively for the AAA Annual Meetings. It explores the life histories and living conditions of the 279,000 Haitian people still living “under the tents” four years after Haiti’s earthquake.

2-0195 Ethnographic Terminalia 2013: Chicago “Exhibition as Residency — Process, Collaboration, Community”

12:00–03:00 • Washington Park Arts Incubator, University of Chicago

Ethnographic Terminalia is a curatorial collective that exhibits new forms of anthropology engaged with contemporary art practice. Playfully exploring reflexivity and positionally, we ask what lies within and what lies beyond disciplinary territories. This year, “Exhibition as Residency—Art, Anthropology, Collaboration” brings together internationally-based artists and anthropologists for a five-day residency in which to perform, exhibit, and experiment with collaborative research practices in a public space.

2-0660 Shadows Then Light: Civil Disobedience for Immigrant Justice

05:30–07:30 • Latino Cultural Center, University of Illinois

We present to you an art installation birthed from struggle, hoping that it may point us to new freedoms guided by stories and vivencias of the undocumented community. Join us with the University of Illinois, Chicago Latino Cultural Center for an evening of art, poetry and storytelling for immigrant justice.

Thursday, November 21

3-0316 Fragments: Glimpses of Haitian Life Three Years After the Earthquake

09:00–05:00 • Field Museum

Fragments: Haiti Four Years after the Earthquake,” curated by Mark Schuller for the Anthropology Museum at Northern Illinois University, is on display at The Field Museum exclusively for the AAA Annual Meetings. It explores the life histories and living conditions of the 279,000 Haitian people still living “under the tents” four years after Haiti’s earthquake.

INSTALLATIONS

3-0925 Rethinking Representations and Action at the Field Museum

02:00–04:00 • Field Museum

We will use the Contemporary Urban Collections project and Restoring Earth exhibition to illustrate museum practice that aims to represent the Chicago region, drawing people into new patterns of civic action. A dialogue will consider the effectiveness of such approaches and wider themes of constancy and change in the civic role of museums.

3-1160 Austerity, Inequality, and Resistance in the Urban Midwest: A Community/Activist Dialogue

04:00–06:00 • Jane Addams

In light of the recent placement of Detroit and other Michigan cities in receivership as well as the battles over public service unions and the funding of public services in Wisconsin and Illinois, this installation bring together critical anthropologists, filmmakers and community activists in conversation. The film Metropolitan Avenue will also be shown.

3-1245 Going Public with Literary Ethnography in the Windy City: Anthropologists and Chicago Artists Build New Genres and a New Future

08:00–10:00 • Columbia College

For decades anthropologists have been experimenting with a variety of blurred genres including ethnographic poetry and fiction, memoirs, performances, or a pastiche of multiple forms. In this special event creative anthropologists showcase new hybrid forms of ethnography and artistry in pursuit of the slippery, ever-changing concept of culture.

Friday, November 22

4-0291 Fragments: Glimpses of Haitian Life Three Years After the Earthquake

09:00–05:00 • Field Museum

Fragments: Haiti Four Years after the Earthquake,” curated by Mark Schuller for the Anthropology Museum at Northern Illinois University, is on display at The Field Museum exclusively for the AAA Annual Meetings. It explores the life histories and living conditions of the 279,000 Haitian people still living “under the tents” four years after Haiti’s earthquake.

INSTALLATIONS

- 4-0305 “Without Music, There Is No Joy, Without Joy, There Is No Music,” Djembe Drumming and the Global Impact of Mandingue Culture
10:00–11:30 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom
This presentation consists of a demonstration of traditional Mandingue rhythms and their meanings in the context of a West African culture more than 1000 years old. The performance will be interspersed with interactive discussion exploring issues raised by the global impact of the djembe drum over the past fifty years.
- 4-0315 The Legacy of Anthropology’s Engagement with Policy: A History in Pictures and Texts
10:00–3:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom
- 4-0320 Trade Is Sublime: A Scenographic Proposition for Ethnographic
Research at the WTO, Geneva, Switzerland
10:00–03:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom
Trade is Sublime is a video installation that ponders the ontology of multilateral trade and the sustainability of the WTO as a trade regime. The installation was developed as a modality to revisit ethnographic research conducted at the WTO between 2008 and 2010, and was displayed at the WTO in Geneva in June, 2013 as a prompt for deepening those insights.
- 4-0325 Sites of Mediation: A Visual Archaeology of the Marvelous Real
Exhibition (2013/4) Sitios De Mediación: Arqueología Visual De Lo
Real Maravilloso (2013/4)
10:00–03:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom
Sites of Mediation is a multi-sited, bi-lingual (English/Spanish) digital photographic work. Through a visual stratigraphy of image and text, it explores four critical stages or successive, dialectical mediations in the making of an exhibition. It invites publics to extend the critical history of the exhibition by using social media to reflect on and remediate the concept, aesthetics and conceits of the archaeology.
- 4-0330 Towards a Legible Anthropology: Airing Our Dirty Laundry
10:00–03:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom
This installation challenges anthropologists to confront the all-too-common disconnect between our work as writers and the communities we study. Passersby are invited to contribute to the clotheslines, where rags and old T-shirts air our writerly frustrations—our “dirty laundry” in the form of scribbled haikus or minimalist prose.

INSTALLATIONS

4-0335 Hawai'i Beyond the Wave, Hawai'i Beyond the Postcard

10:00–03:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom

Visitors are invited to 'paradise' through the sensual impression of postcards, sounds of waves, and interview clips from my fieldwork on Kaua'i. The act of writing postcards to other destinations of this travelling installation (Vienna, Vancouver, and Kaua'i) creates dialogue between visitors on issues such as paradise, sustainability, and biotechnology.

4-0340 Engaging the Future Through Engaging the Past: A Multi-Media Interpretive Experience on the "Road of Development"

10:00–03:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom

This multi-media, interactive installation invites participants to move along the development road, stopping to look at, listen to, taste and feel how a diverse group of community members, anthropologists and artists interpret particular events related to development forces: religion, education, healthcare, infrastructure, changing economies, environments, foods and more.

4-0345 Preservational Determinism; Preservation of Mind

10:00–03:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom

Due to pressing issues of abandoned parcels and foreclosure in inner city neighborhoods, Cleveland, Ohio has become part of a conversation on lost space that was once sacred, and now misplaced. This installation aims to physically show the strife this property endured, and the grandeur it once held.

4-0350 Designing Critical Conversation

10:00–03:00 • Hilton, Second Floor, Grand Ballroom

4-0541 Ethnographic Terminalia 2013: Chicago "Exhibition as Residency—Process, Collaboration, Community"

12:00–06:00 • Washington Park Arts Incubator, University of Chicago

Ethnographic Terminalia is a curatorial collective that exhibits new forms of anthropology engaged with contemporary art practice. This year, "Exhibition as Residency--Art, Anthropology, Collaboration" brings together internationally-based artists and anthropologists for a five-day residency in which to perform, exhibit, and experiment with collaborative research practices in a public space.

4-1151 RECEPTION: Ethnographic Terminalia 2013: Chicago "Exhibition as Residency—Process, Collaboration, Community"

06:00–09:00 • Washington Park Arts Incubator, University of Chicago

Saturday, November 23

5-0010 The Anthropologist in the White City: Touring Chicago's 1893 World's Columbian Exposition

08:00–09:00 • Hilton, Third Floor, PDR 1

The Anthropologist in the White City: Touring Chicago's 1893 World's Columbian Exposition offers an in-depth examination of landmarks and landscapes from the most important world's fair in American history. Led by several experts, participants will become immersed in people, places, and things associated with the birth of American anthropology.

5-0255 Engaging the Public in the Anthropology of Education: Chicago as Invocation and Context

08:00–01:30 • Field Museum

This special innovent at the Field Museum considers the study and practice of education in Greater Chicago and around the world. There, educational anthropologists and local educators will address four topics: (1) migration and education; (2) schooling and the economy; (3) schools as community centers, and (4) out-of-school learning. All welcome, but advance registration required.

5-0290 Murals for Environmental Justice In Little Village, Chicago

09:00–12:00 • La Catedral Cafe

This installation invites anthropologists into the heart and senses of Little Village to collaborate with well-known Environmental activists and artists in Chicago in the creation of a mural for a traveling exhibit. In the process, participants will co-imagine forms of academic/activist/student collaborations informed and shaped around haptic and sensory engagement.

5-0291 The Anthropologist in the White City: Touring Chicago's 1893 World's Columbian Exposition

09:00–01:00 • Offsite

01:45–03:30 • Hilton, Fifth Floor, Conference Room 5E

5-0985 Theoretical Utopias’ Rountable: The Problem of Education in Mass Societies — What Is to Be Done?

02:30–05:30 • University of Chicago

Contact organizer (gbakke@wesleyan.edu) for tickets

An informal, pie-eating, abstract-thinking, “kitchen-table” event, this year’s topic is the reform of the university system — not gathering to complain! Rather, we aim for open, creative and convivial conversation. Visions for realistic reform are just as welcome as improbable notions for totally systemic overhaul! Pie will be provided.

5-1125 Tracings of Trauma: Creating New Observers

04:00–05:45 • Hilton, Fifth Floor, Conference Room 5E

This is an experiment in engaged anthropology aimed at new forms of public practice. Through involving the audience, as a third voice in the translation of Iraq veterans’ narratives of war, this participatory performance challenges the notion of loss in reinterpreting experience.

Wenner-Gren Foundation

The Wenner-Gren Foundation seeks to support significant, innovative, anthropological research into human origins, development, and variation, as well as to foster the international community of scholars in Anthropology.

INSECTS-AS-FOOD SURVEY

Anthropologists are invited to report their observations of the use of insects as food. Observations can be of human or nonhuman primate populations, anecdotal or well documented, and the population can be the focus of study or another the participant has spent significant time among (such as an archaeologist's host community). The goal of the survey is to 1) identify general global patterns, and 2) initiate the development of a global database of standardized scientific identifications and nutritional values.

Please go to EntomoAnthro.org for more information and a link to the survey, or email Julie Lesnik at jlesnik@uic.edu.

TRANSGENDER STUDIES Quarterly

Paisley Currah and Susan Stryker, editors

TSQ offers a venue for interdisciplinary scholarship that contests the objectification, pathologization, and exoticization of transgender lives. Its mission is to examine how “transgender” comes into play as a category, a process, a social assemblage, an increasingly intelligible gender identity, and an identifiable threat to gender normativity.

The first few issues will address the cultural production of trans communities, critical analysis of transgender population studies, transgender biopolitics, and problems of translating gender concepts and practices across linguistic communities.

Current Anthropology

The leading source of anthropological scholarship on the human condition, past and present

Publishing the best theoretical and empirical research across all subfields of the discipline, ranging from the origins of the human species to the interpretation of the complexities of modern life.

WENNER-GREN SYMPOSIUM SERIES - Supplement #7

Potentiality and Humanness:

Revisiting the Anthropological Object in Contemporary Biomedicine

The over-riding question addressed by this supplement is what it means to be human in an age where biological and medical interventions, once considered impossible, are now possible. This supplement focuses on the concept of potentiality as both an analytic through which to approach these issues and an object of study in itself that deserves more attention. This supplement is the most recent addition to the Wenner-Gren Foundation's open access series highlighting important and emerging themes in anthropology across the subfields.

SIGNS AND SOCIETY

Signs and Society is a multidisciplinary journal in the humanities and social sciences devoted to the study of sign processes (or semiosis) in the realms of social action, cognition, and cultural form. Focusing directly on semiosis in its multiple dimensions, the journal promotes collaborative translation across analytical categories and technical vocabularies already established in distinct disciplinary traditions and aims to uncover unanticipated parallels in the ways semiosis is manifest in diverse empirical domains.

An ideal resource for anthropologists, linguists, literary scholars, semioticians, and other scholars in the humanities and social sciences.

113TH AAA ANNUAL MEETING CALL FOR PAPERS

Producing Anthropology

WASHINGTON, DC • DECEMBER 3–7, 2014

Mary L Gray and Rachel Watkins, 2014 Executive Program Chairs

Our association's history suggests that anthropology was an early adopter of an alchemic interdisciplinarity. We are a scientific practice of multivocality, committed to conversations across networks, interests, and perspectives. Indeed, the American Anthropological Association introduced annual meeting themes to the program in 1991 (the inaugural theme addressed Nationalism, Ethnicity, Race and Racism), to underscore the discipline's capacious potential to confront challenges faced by "human societies throughout the world." The call for papers that year highlighted the planned participation of "[s]cholars from several countries", signaling a burgeoning awareness that the borders of the United States did not and should not limit anthropological knowledge produced at the meetings. Topics from subsequent years reflect the discipline's fault lines and doubts about our common legacies, affinities, collaborations and future, even as we assembled to collectively apply what we know to the struggles of humankind and our environment. No matter our individual position on the nature of anthropological knowledge or how best to produce it, the association's members annually assemble to understand and transform the world around us.

Producing Anthropology, the 2014 annual meeting theme, offers a provocation to examine the truths we encounter, produce and communicate through anthropological theories and methods. As a discipline built on blending archives of narratives, actions, sediment and bone, anthropology has well-established methods for grappling with complex, multidimensional artifacts. But what are our epistemological commitments to the ways we make scientific knowledge today? What impact do our epistemic convictions and predilections have, intended or not? What goals do we want to set for ourselves? What partnerships should we build? What audiences should we seek? And how will the truths we generate change as we contend with radical shifts in scholarly publishing, employment opportunities, and labor conditions for anthropologists, as well as the politics of circulating the anthropological records we produce?

Washington, DC, the host city for our 2014 AAA Annual Meeting, provides us with an excellent venue for this pivotal conversation. It affords rich opportunities to bring together political, cultural, and educational constituencies from the city, the region, the United States, and the world. DC is also a center for producing memories and narratives of humanity, culture, language, history, prehistory and the natural world. It even serves as the residence of a particularly well-known son of an anthropologist—Barack Obama.

In addition to the familiar, productive formats of individual papers, organized panels, screenings, roundtables and Section-sponsored events, we will work to expand Installations—performances, recitals, conversations, author-meets-critic roundtables, salon reading workshops, oral history recording sessions and other alternative, creative forms of intellectual expression. We continue our efforts to challenge how anthropology conceptualizes and experiences scholarly communication, both deeply engaging local Washington, DC audiences and extending the reach of the meeting to those interested in joining the conversation from afar. We hope these conversations will challenge what we take for granted as anthropological ways of knowing, seeing and communicating our scholarship.
