Name Badge

You are required to wear your name badge for entry to all AAA Annual Meeting activities. Badge sharing and splitting are prohibited.

Lost Badges

Lost programs and/or badges will be replaced with proof of registration and a $25 badge reprint fee.

Student Weekend

Student Weekend was developed to encourage anthropology students to attend AAA Annual Meeting programming geared toward their areas of study, promote networking, and to expose them to exciting possibilities after graduation. Such programming includes opportunities such as the annual Graduate School Fair. Anthropology students may attend Student Weekend at the discounted rate of only $50 for weekend admission. Registration includes access to all regular sessions and special events on Saturday and Sunday. This rate will be inaccessible until Saturday, November 17. A valid student ID is required, and this is available to all students, regardless of AAA membership status.

ONSITE LOCATION OF ANNUAL MEETING EVENTS

The majority of scholarly sessions, special events, and Annual Meeting programming will take place in four onsite locations:

San Jose McEnery Convention Center (San Jose CC)

150 West San Carlos Street | San Jose, CA 95113

*(*Will be referenced throughout the Annual Meeting program as “San Jose CC”)*

Hilton San Jose

SCHOLARLY EVENTS

Executive Sessions

This year’s theme “Change in the Anthropological Imagination — Resistance, Resilience, and Adaptation,” is a timely call to action for research addressing the themes of resistance, resilience, and adaptation from a wide range of perspectives. Sessions awarded the “Executive Session” designation speak directly to 2018’s Annual Meeting theme and were reviewed and selected by the AAA Executive Program Committee (EPC).

Invited Sessions

Sessions with the “Invited Status Awarded” designation indicate innovative, synthesizing sessions and are reflective of state-of-the-art or thematic concerns in the major subfields. Volunteer reviewers from each section, known as the Section Program Chairs, award this prestigious designation during the peer review process.

Cosponsored Sessions

Sessions with the “Cosponsored Status Awarded” designation mean multiple Section Program Chairs felt the session was innovative and reflective of state-of-the-art or thematic concerns in the major subfields and/or the scope of their section. Volunteer reviewers from each section, known as the Section Program Chairs, award this prestigious designation during the peer review process.

Gallery Sessions

Gallery Sessions, formerly poster sessions, are visual presentations of work and/or research. Presenters post materials such as maps, photographs, graphs, charts and/or tables on a display board along with textual summaries of their work. Gallery sessions provide a more intimate forum for exchange than do regular paper presentations by facilitating informal discussions between presenters and their audience.

Oral Presentation Sessions

Oral Presentation Sessions are lecture-based panels with designated 15-minute timeslots for individual paper presentations and/or moderated discussion.

Roundtables

Roundtables are discussion-based panels that promote and encourage audience participation through a more conversational and interactive presentation style. Roundtable sessions do not have predetermined timeslots for individual paper presentations and/or moderated discussion.

Retrospective Sessions

Retrospective Sessions are Oral Presentation Sessions or Roundtables intended to highlight career contributions of established leading scholars, such as retirement or significant anniversaries.

Volunteered Sessions

Volunteered Sessions represent a collection of individual paper submissions (Individually Volunteered Papers) that were combined into cohesive Oral Presentation Sessions during the peer review process. Volunteer reviewers from each section, the Section Program Chairs, determine how the sessions are formed and evaluate the newly-created session for consideration and placement on the Annual Meeting program.

Group Flash Presentation Sessions

Group Flash Presentation Sessions are a collection of rapid-fire, engaging performances of dynamic spoken content delivered with a punch. Group Flash Presentation Sessions may include up to 15 presenters and discussants with a speedy five (5) minutes per presenter.

SPECIAL EVENT SESSION TYPES

Business Meeting

Business Meetings enable sections or the association as a whole to come together and discuss pressing issues that pertain to the field. Generally, business meetings are open to section members and section non-members.

Board Meeting

Board Meetings allow board members of sections and the association to gather and discuss the year’s developments and future agendas. Generally, board meetings are only open to board members.

Committee Meeting

Committee Meetings allow a space for members of AAA committees to gather and discuss the year's developments and future agendas.

Reception

Receptions are social gatherings for attendees of the annual meeting. They serve as reunions, networking events, or space to consider the day's scholarly material. For additional information, please feel free to contact the sponsors or listed participants of the receptions.

ADDITIONAL SESSION FORMATS

Workshops

Workshops focus on engagement, interactivity, and in-depth analysis of pertinent methodologies and subjects within the field of anthropology. These sessions provide opportunities for attendees to update their knowledge and skills in a variety of professional areas. For ease of use, we have grouped workshops into different tracks: Academic Training and Career Development, Practicing and Applied Career Development, Technical Skill Development, and Humanistic Anthropology. Please see the full session listings in the body of the program for more details on this year's selection. Workshops require registration for both the Annual Meeting and the specific workshop. Registration must be satisfied prior to attending the workshop, and a monitor will stand at the workshop's entrance to greet workshop registrants and check them in to the workshop.

Mentoring Events

Mentoring events are designed to connect individuals at earlier and later career states to tackle general and/or specific career planning and professional development issues. Formats include one-to-one ("instant mentoring"), one-to-many (a facilitated group discussion), or many-to-many information exchanges. Forums to discuss design and improvement of assistive technologies (e.g., online matching, information and referral resources, searchable internship guides and databases, etc.) are also considered mentoring events.

Installations

Installations offer attendees an opportunity to learn from a range of vested interests that are not typically encountered or easily found on the traditional AAA program. Installations are meant to disrupt who and what we tend to see at the Annual Meetings, helping encounter presenters and attendees alike to do different kinds of things at the intersections of anthropological arts, sciences, and cultural expression.

SVA and AAA Film & Media Festival

Film sessions engage anthropology through a new lens. The Film & Media Festival, organized by the Society for Visual Anthropology (a section of the American Anthropological Association) screens work by students, professional anthropologists, and professional filmmakers at the American Anthropological Association's annual conference. The Festival jury, comprised of anthropologists and film scholars, selects work to be included in the Festival on the basis of anthropological relevance and value to the field. For more information see the Society for Visual Anthropology's website at www.societyforvisualanthropology.org.

EVENTS NOT TO MISS

AAA Distinguished Lecture with Emily Martin: “Playing with Fire: Imagining Anthropology and Science”

Emily Martin, feminist anthropologist and anthropologist of science and gender, will present this year’s Distinguished Lecture, “Playing with Fire: Imagining Anthropology and Science.”

RECYCLING

Your badge holder is recyclable. Please help us run a greener Annual Meeting by recycling your badge holder at the end of the meeting. Receptacle boxes for the badge holders will be located in various places in the convention center.

All participants who recycle their badges and badge holders are eligible to win a free registration for the 2019 AAA Annual Meeting in Vancouver, BC, Canada! The winning name will be drawn after the meeting and the winner will be notified, via email, by January 31, 2019.

AAA BUSINESS MEETING RULES AND PROCEDURES

1. The presiding officer of the Annual Business Meeting shall be the President or in his or her absence, in order of succession, the President-Elect or a member of the Executive Board selected by the Board.
2. The presiding officer shall determine the presence of a quorum and call the meeting to order.
3. A quorum, as defined in the Association’s bylaws shall be 250 members. If a quorum is not present, business transacted by the body shall be unofficial and non-binding on the Association.
4. The order of business for the Annual Business Meeting shall be as announced in the meeting notice previously published.
5. Unless otherwise specified by AAA’s bylaws, or these rules and procedures, Roberts Rules of Order Newly Revised shall govern the conduct of the Annual Business Meeting.
6. All voting shall be by general consent or by a majority of AAA members present and voting unless otherwise specified in the AAA bylaws or Roberts Rules of Order Newly Revised.
7. Voting shall be by general consent or by voice vote unless a vote by standing is ordered by the presiding officer or by request of a member present.
8. Voting by proxy is not permitted.
9. The presiding officer is responsible for ensuring the orderly conduct of business before the body. To that end, no member may speak before the body unless properly recognized by the presiding officer.
10. In an effort to ensure against one-sided presentations, the presiding officer may recognize speakers in such order as to present alternative pro and con presentations on a proposition before the body.
11. In an effort to ensure that all members have an equal opportunity to be heard on a proposition and that the efficient conduct of business is not thwarted by needless repetition of the same argument or point, the presiding officer may limit the number of times a member is recognized to speak on the same proposition.
12. In order to ensure that there is adequate time to consider all matters scheduled to be considered by the body, the presiding officer may limit the time for consideration of each agenda item, the number of speakers to be recognized on each item and the amount of time available to each speaker.

AAA PRINCIPLES OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY

AAA is dedicated to the dissemination of anthropological knowledge and its use to solve human problems. Anthropologists work in the widest variety of contexts studying all aspects of the human experience, and face myriad ethical quandaries inflected in different ways by the contexts in which they work and the kinds of issues they address. Seven core principles are shared across subfields and contexts of practice.

These core principles are expressed as concise statements, accompanied by brief discussions placing that principle in a broader context, along with more detailed examinations of how each affects or may be helpful to anthropologists in different subfields or work contexts. The Statement of Principles also offers resources to assist anthropologists in tackling difficult ethical issues or the new situations that inevitably arise in the production of knowledge.

GENERAL MEETING INFORMATION

The American Anthropological Association does not adjudicate assertions of unethical behavior. These principles are intended to educate, foster discussion, and serve as a guide to responsible decision-making.

1. Do No Harm
2. Be Open and Honest Regarding Your Work
3. Obtain Informed Consent and Necessary Permissions
4. Weigh Competing Ethical Obligations Due Collaborators and Affected Parties
5. Make Your Results Accessible
6. Protect and Preserve Your Records
7. Maintain a Respectful and Ethical Professional Relationships

For more detailed information regarding the AAA Principles of Professional Responsibility, please visit:

<http://ethics.americananthro.org/category/statement/>

PHOTOGRAPHY DISCLOSURE

AAA takes photographs during its meetings and events for use in association advertising, newsletters, and other promotional materials, whether in print, electronic or other media, including the AAA website. By participating in the Annual Meeting, you grant AAA the right to use your name and photograph for such purposes.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES

As a courtesy to meeting attendees, electronic devices must be operated in silent/vibrate mode during all educational sessions; devices that beep, ring, etc. are prohibited. We ask that you please do not conduct cell phone conversations while in attendance at educational sessions. Your cooperation is appreciated.

RECORDING SESSIONS

To record scholarly sessions, follow scholarly convention and obtain permission of the person to be recorded and the organizer of the session. There should be no publication of such material without following scholarly procedure regarding permission and citation.

WI-FI

Free Wi-Fi will be provided in the public spaces at the San Jose McEnergy Convention Center, Hilton San Jose, San Jose Marriott, and Fairmont San Jose Hotels. This complimentary level of bandwidth may accommodate web browsing and e-mail, but will not support rapid transfer of large amounts of data, such as video streaming or downloading large files. To connect, simply select the “WickedlyFastWiFi” network on your device and begin surfing the web. There is no password or splash page authentication required.

GROUND TRANSPORTATION

For easy access to public transportation information, visit the San Jose Convention & Visitors Bureau's transportation website at www.sanjose.org/directions-transit.

Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority (VTA) Light Rail and Shuttle

Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority (VTA) is an independent special district that provides sustainable, accessible, community-focused transportation options that are innovative, environmentally responsible, and promote the vitality of the region.

VTA provides bus, light rail, and paratransit services, as well as participates as a funding partner in regional rail service including Caltrain, Capital Corridor, and the Altamont Corridor Express. As the county's congestion management agency, VTA is responsible for countywide transportation planning, including congestion management, design and construction of specific highway, pedestrian, and bicycle improvement projects, as well as promotion of transit-oriented development.

Taxis/Rideshare

Yellow Checker Cab Company

Parking

Parking rates vary at each hotel. Please check your reservation or hotel website for hotel parking information. Attendee parking for the San Jose McEnery Convention Center is available below the Convention Center for $1 per 20 minutes or a daily maximum of $20. Additional parking is available beneath the South Hall Building (at South Market and Viola Streets) in the South Hall Additional Parking Garage. The maximum daily rate is $7 and overnight parking is not permitted.

Bike

Ford GoBike is the Bay Area's new bike share system with thousands of public bikes for use across San Francisco, East Bay and San Jose. For full details, please visit Ford GoBike's website at www.fordgobike.com.

ACCESSIBILITY

The AAA offers extensive accessibility services to accommodate attendance at the Annual Meeting for members with disabilities. AAA staff work with Annual Meeting registrants who requested accommodations prior to the Meeting. Pre-arranged accommodations may be verified with AAA staff onsite at the Registration desk to ensure that attendees receive the assistance they need. People who made requests in advance have been provided a mobile phone number to text/contact AAA staff throughout the Meeting. Requests made onsite will be accommodated as possible based on available resources. Should you need any additional information while at the Annual Meeting, please contact Meeting Services staff on-site at the Registration Desk or via email at aaameetings@americananthro.org. As we cannot anticipate all needs, we value an open partnership and direct communication with those who require accessibility accommodation. We are committed to providing suitable accessibility accommodations at the Annual Meeting for all attendees.

We cannot anticipate all needs, as everyone is different. Therefore, we rely on direct communication with those who require accessibility assistance to be as appropriate and as efficient as possible.

Equipment Rental and Services

CART — Captioning

Computer Assisted Real-time Transcription (CART) will be available at all general sessions (Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday evenings). Sign language interpreters, assistive listening devices, and other services will be provided upon request for all AAA Annual Meeting activities.

Food Allergies

There are no formal meals included in the Annual Meeting program. AAA's Opening Reception will be held on Wednesday, November 14, immediately following the Opening Ceremony and Keynote address, and will feature light appetizers and a cash bar. Several AAA sections, affiliates, and universities host receptions throughout the Annual Meeting that may or may not be open to attendees. AAA's goal is to have a varied menu to appeal to the majority of attendee's dietary needs in the events that are hosted by the association.

Quiet Room

Room 232 | San Jose CC | Concourse Level

A quiet room will be available at the San Jose Convention Center. Quiet rooms are intended to provide a quiet, calm space where meeting attendees can spend time away from noise, lights, and other stimuli of conference spaces. The quiet room is not available for conversations or meetings.

Prayer Room

Room 233 | San Jose CC | Concourse Level

A prayer room will be available at the San Jose Convention Center. Prayer rooms are intended to provide a quiet, calm space where meeting attendees can spend time away from noise, lights, and other stimuli of conference spaces. The prayer room is not available for conversations or meetings.

Environmental/Chemical Sensitivities

With more than 5,000 attendees expected in San Jose, we will be in close quarters. To help make this event accessible to participants for whom synthetic fragrances or other chemical odors are irritating or pose reproductive dangers, AAA requests that you attend Annual Meeting sessions and events free of perfume, cologne, body sprays, and other heavily scented personal care products. Cigarette smoke also remains an access barrier for many. The law requires we maintain a smoke-free environment indoors. If you wish to smoke, please use the venues' designated outdoor smoking areas and refrain from smoking near any other doorways or paths of travel.

WORKSHOPS AND SPECIAL EVENTS

WORKSHOPS PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14

1:00 PM - 5:00 PM | MR 112 | San Jose CC | Street Level

2-0255 ANTHROPOLOGISTS IN TECH: MAKING THE TRANSITION FROM ACADEMIA TO UX RESEARCH Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: National Association for the Practice of Anthropology

What do anthropologists do in technology companies? This workshop will orient participants toward user experience and design research, a rapidly growing career path. We will explore questions such as: what is User Experience (UX) research? how does UX research fit into the product development process in tech? Is this role a good fit for your skill set and as a future career?

ORGANIZER: Emily McDonald (University of California San Francisco)

PRESENTERS: Louise Beryl (Teachers College, Columbia University)
Jennie Doberne (Dropbox)

This session may be of particular interest to: Students, recent graduates

1:00 PM - 5:00 PM | MR 114 | San Jose CC | Street Level

2-0260 ARCHIVAL RESEARCH 101 Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Smithsonian Institution & General Anthropology Division

Archives are increasingly being used in research by anthropologists in all four fields, however, few anthropologists receive specific training in how to conduct archival research. This workshop will demystify archival repositories and provide an orientation to conducting research in archives. The workshop will have three parts: 1. an overview of the nature of archival repositories (the principles of archival organization, what "access" and "preservation" mean in an archival context); 2. how to translate a research question into an archival research plan; and 3. how to use collection databases, catalogs, and finding aids to locate materials of interest. The workshop will be taught by archivists from repositories with significant anthropological holdings. Ample time will be given to assisting participants in searching for archival materials relevant to their own research interests.

ORGANIZER: Diana Marsh (National Anthropological Archives, NMNH, Smithsonian Institution)

PRESENTER: Gina Rappaport (National Anthropological Archives, Smithsonian Institution)

This session may be of particular interest to: Anthropologists in any sub-field and stage of career

1:00 PM - 5:00 PM | MR 111 | San Jose CC | Street Level

2-0265 UNDER PRESSURE: TRANSLATING ETHNOGRAPHIC SKILLS INTO EMERGENCY HUMANITARIAN WORK Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Medical Anthropology

Anthropological Response to Health Emergencies SIG invites you to this technical skills workshop. Many international health organizations are discovering the benefits of having anthropologists on their emergency response teams. As a result, there is a need to train anthropologists to be better prepared to support response teams in these emergent humanitarian contexts. To engage in humanitarian crises work, anthropologists need concrete skills and knowledge of current issues to be vital members of response teams. This four-hour workshop will introduce participants to the role anthropologists fulfil in a team and agency, methods and data sources, and core concepts in humanitarian actions. Through brief lectures, discussion, activities, case studies, and "voices from the field," participants will develop a diverse portfolio of tools which can be used to rapidly collect data that can help to solve humanitarian crises, understand how to communicate to agencies and affected individuals, elements of risk, development, social mobilization, and community engagement.

ORGANIZERS: Kristin Hedges (Grand Valley State University)
Deon Claiborne (Michigan State University)

PRESENTERS: Juliet Bedford (Anthrologica)
Robert Hahn (U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention)

This session may be of particular interest to: Graduate students, global health specialists, applied anthropologists, and cultural and medical anthropologists.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 2018

3-0270 8:00 AM - 12:00 PM | MR 112 | San Jose CC | Street Level CONSULTING IN ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE AND CHANGE Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: National Association for the Practice of Anthropology

This workshop builds on anthropological tools in organizational culture and change. The workshop may to help you discover whether a consulting career may be in your future, or hone the consulting work you already do. The workshop will help you discover and hone the practical skills needed to help organizations understand and act on the problems they encounter. First: “consulting basics.” Who to approach? What to do and/or say, and how to build and sustain client relationships? We’ll discuss when to follow up, and why perseverance, compassion, and your own anthropological approach(es) matter. Second, we’ll explore how client problems connect with anthropological methods and theory to become the basis for a consulting project built upon tools you likely already have (or new tools you will discover during the workshop). Our team’s own experience in different organizational contexts, and the experiences of our participants, will highlight practical examples of pitfalls and opportunities. Third, we will examine the range of ways in which clients may work alongside us as partners, adapting anthropological practice to create and communicate emerging understandings guiding clients toward beneficial action. Fourth, we discuss how to work effectively with clients to assist them in addressing the often beneath-the-surface issues they face or the questions they have not asked. Finally, we focus attention on the thorny issue of resistance to change – including individual and organizational issues and dysfunction. We consider various strategies mitigate it. Bring your thoughts, experiences, and recommendations; we hope to see you there!

ORGANIZERS: Elizabeth Briody (Cultural Keys LLC),
Ken Erickson (University of South Carolina)

PRESENTERS: Jo Aiken (NASA/University College London)
Keith Kellersohn (Salisbury University)

This session may be of particular interest to: Graduate students, new Ph.D.s and current faculty with interest in organizational consulting using anthropological tools.

3-0275 8:00 AM - 5:00 PM | MR 111 | San Jose CC | Street Level THAT ALMOST FINISHED JOURNAL ARTICLE Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Medical Anthropology

Are you sitting on the third draft of a paper you haven't gotten around to submitting? Stuck changing a conference presentation or dissertation chapter into a publishable article? Avoiding revising an article for resubmission because of confusing or daunting reviewers' comments? Do you have questions about peer review and editorial processes? Designed for junior professors, post-docs, and advanced graduate students (ABD), this all-day, hands-on workshop provides guidelines and feedback needed to finish revising and submit an article for peer review. The facilitator will lead you through analyzing the components of your draft manuscript, checking that you have: hooked readers at the beginning, balanced the structure of the article, provided signposts and transitions to guide readers through your argument, linked data logically to analysis, written a solid conclusion and accurate abstract, and taken other steps to increase the likelihood that your paper will be accepted for publication. The facilitator also demystifies the peer review process, discusses strategies for steady publication, and provides checklists for manuscript preparation. To participate fully in the workshop, bring 2 double-spaced print copies of a draft manuscript you are planning to submit or resubmit to a journal. The first page should include your current abstract, total word count, name of the journal, and maximum words permitted by that journal. A laptop is also recommended. For more information, contact Dr. Jaida Samudra (jaidasamudra@gmail.com), a medical anthropologist with two decades experience editing journal articles and scholarly books in the social sciences. Anthropologists from any subfield welcome.

WORKSHOPS (PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED)

ORGANIZER/PRESENTER: Jaida Samudra (Professional Editing for Scholars)

This session may be of particular interest to: Post-docs, junior faculty, assistant professors, advanced doctoral students (ABD), researchers

10:30 AM - 12:30 PM | MR 113 | San Jose CC | Street Level

3-0600 COMMUNICATE WITH CONFIDENCE: HOW TO CULTIVATE YOUR PUBLIC VOICE

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: American Anthropological Association

Increasingly, anthropologists are seeking ways to connect their research, discoveries, and thinking to a broad, public audience. But how? This workshop brings together experts to provide insights into the art and craft of public engagement. Chip Colwell, editor-in-chief of SAPIENS, Amanda Mascarelli, managing editor of SAPIENS, and Jeff Martin, AAA's Director of Communications and Public Affairs will explain the public perceptions of anthropology, the importance of messaging, and how to write for the public. In the first hour, workshop participants will learn how to: distill your mission into a short, powerful statement that can be grasped instantly; master storytelling techniques that speak to the heart as well as the head; and position yourself as a trusted resource, both on campus and in the community. In the second hour, you will learn how to write for SAPIENS and other popular magazines and newspapers. The editors will provide a framework to approach popular writing and an understanding of the publication process. We will close the workshop with a practice "pitch" session, where you get to try out turning your research into a clear, compelling story that will resonate with the listener. Public engagement is a craft that must be cultivated, so please come join us to sharpen your skills and learn about how you can engage a broad public audience to make your research matter.

ORGANIZER: Jeff Martin (American Anthropological Association)

PRESENTERS: Chip Colwell (Denver Museum of Nature & Science)
Amanda Mascarelli (SAPIENS)

This session may be of particular interest to: Students, generalists/specialists, anyone, everyone

10:30 AM - 12:30 PM | MR 114 | San Jose CC | Street Level

3-0605 HOW TO WRITE A GRANT PROPOSAL FOR THE WENNER-GREN FOUNDATION AND THE NSF

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Wenner-Gren Foundation & the National Science Foundation

Danilyn Rutherford, the president of the Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research, will join forces with Jeff Mantz, a program officer for cultural anthropology at the National Science Foundation, to offer a workshop designed to help anthropologists navigate the process of getting a grant. They'll describe the various funding opportunities their agencies offer, say something about the review process, and offer helpful tips on how to write a winning proposal. There will be plenty of time for questions. This event will be suitable for graduate students and seasoned scholars alike.

ORGANIZERS/PRESENTERS: Danilyn Rutherford (Wenner-Gren Foundation)
Jeffrey Mantz (National Science Foundation)

This session may be of particular interest to: Graduate students, faculty, generalists, specialists, international scholars.

3-0610

10:30 AM - 12:30 PM | Offsite - Hammer Theater | Mercury News Lounge

PHOTOETHNOGRAPHY IN 2018: RESISTANCE, PRACTICE, AND REINVENTION (WORKSHOP 1: ON PHOTOGRAPHIC EQUIPMENT AND PRACTICE)*Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Visual Anthropology

In this workshop, participants will discuss the equipment they are employing in current projects including the features of specific cameras, the practical applications of those chosen technologies, and the theoretical rationales for usage. They will also reflect upon their own practice of conducting photoethnography and offer practical advice for workshop participants seeking entry into the genre.

ORGANIZERS: Amelia Frank-Vitale (University of Michigan)

John Doering-White (University of Michigan)

PRESENTERS: Jason De Leon (University of Michigan)

Jeffrey Schonberg (San Francisco State University)

Stephanie Maher (University of the Witwatersrand)

This session may be of particular interest to: Graduate students, ethnographers using visual methods, photographers*3-0720

1:00 PM - 3:00 PM | Offsite - Hammer Theater | Hammer Café

PHOTOETHNOGRAPHY IN 2018: RESISTANCE, PRACTICE, AND REINVENTION (WORKSHOP 2: ON PHOTOVOICE AND PARTICIPATORY PHOTOGRAPHY)*Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Visual Anthropology

In this workshop, participants will discuss the opportunities and challenges around photovoice and other participatory photographic methodologies. We will work with workshop attendees to experiment with different approaches to participatory photography. We will also look to partner with a local San José organization or school to conduct a participatory photography project as an extension of this workshop.

ORGANIZER: Amelia Frank-Vitale (University of Michigan)

PRESENTERS: John Doering-White (University of Michigan)

Hector Ruiz (University of Pittsburgh)

Amelia Frank-Vitale (University of Michigan)

1:00 PM - 3:00 PM | MR 114 | San Jose CC | Street Level

REIMAGINING THE CUSTOMER: AN ANTHROPOLOGICAL FRAMEWORK FOR DESIGN AND INNOVATION IN BUSINESS AND SOCIAL ENTERPRISE*Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: National Association for the Practice of Anthropology

The business world traditionally conceives of “customers” in terms of direct relationships and deliberate engagement with products and services. Anthropologists, by contrast, know that any product or service becomes the locus of a complex ecosystem of stakeholder groups with different types of engagement. In this workshop, we take a step back from familiar approaches to “customer ethnography” and move beyond simple subject-object conceptualizations of “the customer” that predominate in current approaches to business strategy and innovation. We will instead explore broader frameworks, drawn from our forthcoming book, for thinking about customer & user engagement. Workshop participants will take a “complex human ecosystem” approach to the customers engaged by business, and will apply a new typology of user experiences—including non-direct types of experiences like “ambient,” “associate,” “intermediary,” and “proxy”. Working together in small groups, participants will explore how this expanded perspective can help businesses or social enterprises reimagine both their customers and their products or services—with particular emphasis on understanding and reaching out to individuals and populations that are overlooked, underserved, or disenfranchised by existing offerings. The presenters will share examples from their own work in healthcare, urban planning, education, and other fields to bring the ecosystem perspective and experiential typology to life. Together, we will develop new ways for anthropologists to help business and social enterprise create more beneficial outcomes for customers and society. This is a revised version of the presenters' very well-received 2017 AAA workshop, with an updated typology and redesigned group activities.

WORKSHOPS (PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED)

ORGANIZERS/PRESENTERS: Mike Youngblood (The Youngblood Group)
Benjamin Chesluk (American Board of Internal Medicine)

This session may be of particular interest to: Practicing/applied anthropologists

1:00 PM - 5:00 PM | MR 113 | San Jose CC | Street Level

3-0730 DOING CONSUMER RESEARCH AND COLLABORATING WITH CLIENTS

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: National Association for the Practice of Anthropology

This workshop is offered for anthropologists interested in pursuing a career in consumer research and working with clients in corporate and nonprofit organizations. It will engage participants in learning how to present oneself as a professional who can help organizations in their business endeavors and develop relationships with potential clients. The workshop will present ethnographic methods and anthropological theories utilized in doing consumer research including case examples from the experience of the workshop presenters. Collaboration with research participants will be covered. Through simulated situations, workshop participants will work in teams to solve client problems and prepare a case study for presentation during the workshop. Upon completion of the workshop, participants will be able to (1) learn to reframe corporate business problems into humanistic issues for investigation; (2) list and apply ethnographic methods for conducting consumer research and gaining insights; (3) learn to reframe consumer insights into corporate and non-profit recommendations for business clients. The workshop is part of the Business Anthropology Community.

ORGANIZER: Maryann McCabe (University of Rochester)

PRESENTER: Timothy Malefyt (Fordham University)

This session may be of particular interest to: Practicing anthropologists, Students, academics interested in applied anthropology

2:00 PM - 6:00 PM | MR 112 | San Jose CC | Street Level

3-0995 DESIGN ANTHROPOLOGY: ETHNOGRAPHIC APPROACHES TO INNOVATION

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: National Association for the Practice of Anthropology

Sold out at last year's AAA Annual Meeting, this introductory workshop explores how design anthropology can be used to understand and solve business problems in technology, consumer, government, non-profit and other organizations. Participants will learn anthropologically informed Human-Centered Design research, analysis, and reporting method pioneered by organizations such as Adaptive Path, Cooper, and IDEO. The workshop will center on a real world design challenge, provided by AAA. Participants will have the opportunity to gain hands-on experience partnering with a client/stakeholder. The workshop presenters will also share firsthand accounts of how the methods are applied in the field and will answer questions about the professional transition to design anthropology. Please note that this workshop repeats substantial material covered in last year's workshop. It is an introduction to Design Anthropology. We plan to offer a Level 2 workshop in the future.

ORGANIZER: Tamara Hale (Workday)

PRESENTERS: Tamara Hale (Workday)

Matthew Bernius (Cornell University)

Daniel Ginsberg (American Anthropological Association)

This session may be of particular interest to: Students, recent graduates, PhD students, early career, practicing, adjunct, tenure-track

PHOTOETHNOGRAPHY IN 2018: RESISTANCE, PRACTICE, AND REINVENTION (WORKSHOP 3: ON AESTHETICS AND DESIGN)Workshop | Additional Registration Required*

HOSTED BY: Society for Visual Anthropology

In this workshop participants will discuss how they think about the aesthetics of their photography pre- and post-shooting. They will talk about camera and film choice, the use of editing software like Lightroom, how they think about incorporating images in book designs and installations, and their approaches and perspectives on photo essays.

ORGANIZERS: Amelia Frank-Vitale (University of Michigan)

John Doering-White (University of Michigan)

PRESENTERS: Daniel Hoffman (University of Washington)

TEACHING ANTHROPOLOGYWorkshop | Additional Registration Required*

HOSTED BY: American Ethnological Society

Undergraduate students enrolled in introductory cultural anthropology courses, both majors and non-majors, comprise our discipline's largest public audience. More than a blog post, an op-ed or a citation in a major media piece, the introductory classroom provides anthropologists with opportunities for in-depth and extended presentation of the key research strategies and analytical frameworks of our field. This teaching workshop will explore effective strategies for engaging undergraduates.

PUBLISHING A PEER-REVIEWED ARTICLE: THOUGHTS FROM A JOURNAL EDITORWorkshop | Additional Registration Required*

HOSTED BY: American Ethnological Society

This workshop is focused on helping attendees who seek to publish their manuscripts in peer-reviewed academic journals, particularly anthropology journals. The workshop will be coordinated by the editor-in-chief of American Ethnologist, who during his tenure has reviewed hundreds of manuscripts on a wide range of topics. Topics to be covered include: choosing an appropriate journal for your manuscript; understanding the importance of submission guidelines; demystifying the process of peer review; tips for responding to reviewers' comments and revising your manuscript; what to do if your manuscript is rejected outright; and tips for promoting your work once it is in print.

ORGANIZER: Katherine McCaffrey (Montclair State University)

PRESENTER: Niko Besnier (University of Amsterdam)

WORKSHOPS (PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED)

10:30 AM - 12:30 PM | MR 114 | San Jose CC | Street Level

4-0565 USING ETHNOGRAPHIC METHODS TO INFORM DEVELOPMENT OF MEASUREMENT TOOLS

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Medical Anthropology & Society for Psychological Anthropology

Increasingly, anthropologists are engaging with mixed-methods research. The development of culturally-appropriate measurement tools is an important yet challenging part of this process, particularly for anthropologists interested in cognitive or medical anthropology. Using instruments that best reflect local ethnobiologies and ethnopsychologies, explanatory models, and experiences of health and illness are essential for ensuring validity. Anthropologists are ideally suited to identify such relevant categories and constructs but are not always trained in translating ethnographic findings into quantitative measures. This workshop will introduce participants to the concepts and methods that are central to developing appropriate, ethnographically valid measurement tools.

This workshop is an interactive participatory teaching session consisting of small group activities facilitated by researchers with instrument development experience in multiple settings. There will be an emphasis on measurement tools that are used in the context of health research and interventions. The workshop will begin with a discussion of the limitations of using standard instruments for cross-cultural health and mental health assessment. Participants will be exposed to the novel tool development process, and facilitators will guide participants through a simulated tool development exercise. Participants will be exposed to pile sort and free-listing procedures and basic thematic analysis procedures to demonstrate how qualitative and ethnographic data can be used to develop items for instruments. The group will then discuss instrument piloting and refinement, including quantitative and qualitative techniques. Workshop participants will develop foundational skills and will be provided with resources for future reference as they seek to apply these strategies in their own work.

ORGANIZERS/PRESENTERS: Bonnie Kaiser (University of California San Diego)
Lesley Jo Weaver (University of Alabama)

This session may be of particular interest to: Students, quantitative and mixed-methods anthropologists, anthropologists focused on mental health

1:00 PM - 3:00 PM | MR 111 | San Jose CC | Street Level

4-0710 GETTING YOUR BOOK MANUSCRIPT PUBLISHED: MEET WITH ACADEMIC PRESS EDITORS

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: American Ethnological Society

This workshop is focused on helping attendees who are interested in the possibility of submitting book manuscripts to peer-reviewed academic publishers. Workshop participants will include acquisitions editors from three university presses who have overseen the review of hundreds of manuscripts covering a wide range of topics. Some of the topics that will be covered include: choosing the right publisher for your work; preparing a book proposal or prospectus; submitting your book manuscript; how the peer review process works; revising your manuscript; working with publishers to promote your book; and tips for avoiding common mistakes.

ORGANIZER: Katherine McCaffrey (Montclair State University)
PRESENTERS: Kate Marshall (University of California Press)

4-0715 DESIGN THINKING: AN INTERACTIVE APPLICATION OF ANTHROPOLOGY

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: National Association for the Practice of Anthropology

This workshop is part of the Business Anthropology Community Initiative. Come participate in a workshop that builds on your anthropological skills in the area of design anthropology! Learn where and how Anthropological skills fit in to a service/product design lifecycle. The workshop is designed to help you understand what an anthropologist might do inside of a design department within a business or organization. First, we will talk briefly about what design thinking is and why Anthropologists are perfectly trained for it. Second, we will conduct a (super-abbreviated) design thinking lifecycle. This will include interviewing conference participants during which we will learn why Anthropological training shines in this empathy-building phase. We will then analyze the data and learn how qualitative data analysis skills apply to solving real world problems. Next, we will design a service based on what we have learned. We will talk about how we would partner with designers and product managers to ensure our solutions work for both the user and the business. Lastly, we will present our recommendations in a way that increases empathy for those we spoke with and tells a compelling story for why we landed where we did. During each step we will talk about best practices and how to increase influence within an organization. We will discuss how to position yourself as an expert and how to create a shared understanding between stakeholders. Each step will be a combination of knowledge building and hands-on experience. Hope to see you there!

ORGANIZER/PRESENTER: Kevin Newton (LinkedIn)

HOW ANTHROPOLOGISTS CAN INFORM AND ENGAGE CITIZENS THROUGH WIKIPEDIA

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Wiki Education

With the sheer volume of information now available on the internet, having trustworthy, accurate digital resources is more important than ever. The general public no longer only turns to publishers, subject matter experts, or even news outlets for most of our information; they also look to Wikipedia. Wikipedia is edited by volunteers, with varying interests, educational contexts, and access to academic publications. The site still lacks detailed and accurate articles about scientific topics relevant to informed citizens, and anthropology content and anthropological perspectives are often inaccurate, misrepresented, or missing altogether.

That's why Wiki Education, a nonprofit organization dedicated to improving Wikipedia's quality, equity, and reach, has partnered with the American Anthropological Association. We invite members and anthropology experts to amplify the impact of their research by joining one of Wiki Education's programs dedicated to adding reliable, accessible anthropology information to the free encyclopedia. Anthropologists may participate by assigning students to edit Wikipedia's anthropology content or by learning how to contribute themselves.

At this workshop, we will discuss anthropology content gaps on Wikipedia, and we will encourage attendees to join our initiative to close these gaps and make information more accessible and comprehensible to the public. Program participants and Wiki Education staff will share: details about how Wikipedia works and what goes on behind-the-scenes to maintain quality; outcomes of the partnership with the American Anthropological Association thus far; learning benefits for students and scholars; and hands-on training about Wiki Education's suite of tools, trainings, and Wikipedia expertise available to program participants.

VISUALIZING FIELDWORK: CRAFTING AUDIO-VISUAL MEDIA USING SMARTPHONES

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Visual Anthropology

Make the most of your smart phone in the field by collecting visual anecdotes. This workshop teaches participants practical skills to capture and create short compelling pieces of audio-visual media using their smartphones. Participants will learn the basic building blocks for documentary storytelling, be introduced to different styles of ethnographic filmmaking, technical video and audio how-to's on the smartphone for direct applications in the field. Participants will produce a 3 minute film learning skills that can be adapted to their unique field sites contexts, methodologies, and extended into longer film projects. This workshop is hosted by Ethnocine, a feminist, women of color centered, ethnographic filmmaking collective.

ORGANIZER: Mariangela Jordan (Cornell University and Ethnocine Collective)

PRESENTERS: Miasarah Lai (Ethnocine Collective)

Natalie Nesvaderani (Cornell University)

This session may be of particular interest to: Anthropologists and researchers interested in incorporating filmmaking methods in their research and practice.

WORKSHOPS (PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED)

4:00 PM - 6:00 PM | MR 112 | San Jose CC | Street Level

4-0995 ETHNOGRAPHIC POETRY WORKSHOP

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Humanistic Anthropology

This workshop aims to bring together poet-ethnographers to explore how poetry allows for capturing the field and its experiences as a mode of contemporary ethnopoetics and strengthens the move for antropoesia. Renato Rosaldo describes “antropoesia,” as a bridging the cultural and social scientific fields of poetry and anthropology. Keeping the move for “antropoesia” in contemporary anthropology central, this workshop will explore ethnographic poetry as a mode of ethnopoetics that posits that an ethnographer-poet while directed by training also faces a “surfeit” of witnessing in ways other than objective. Also because participant observation as a methodology demands a visceral empathy with the field; the ethnographer-poet is doubly prone to experience and articulate the witnessing in the realm of imaginary and one, which is grounded in fact. Through guided writing, and readings we will discuss how the ethnographic poem becomes a witness that meshes together the ethnographer as a professional and a visceral human with a deeply personal voice. This workshop will aim to produce publishable pieces from the participants. This workshop will enable all anthropologists (and not just poet-ethnographers) to hone their self-reflexivity and write more insightful, nuanced and heartfelt ethnographies.

ORGANIZER/PRESENTER: Ather Zia (University of Northern Colorado, Greeley)

This session may be of particular interest to: Generalists, Practicing/Applied

5-0265 ADDRESSING ACADEMIC PRECARIETY: HOW TO TRANSITION FROM ACADEMIA TO INDUSTRY

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Cultural Anthropology

Even though 80% of anthropology graduate students will not get tenure-track jobs, PhD programs in the U.S. are still exclusively training students to become professors. To address this training gap, this workshop will guide students, adjuncts, and other anthropologists for a career beyond academia in three steps. The workshop will prepare participants to: (1) Identify careers and industries beyond academia best suited for anthropologists, (2) Network and communicate their academic skills to industry leaders and organizations, and (3) Translate their academic skills into a professional resume and cover letter. At the end of the workshop, one-on-one open office hours will be available for participants to ask the presenter specific questions pertaining to their individual career path objectives and strengths. Participants will be able to sign up for a dedicated time slot prior to the workshop via Calendly. As with any ethnographic project, the transition from academia to the “exotic” field of industry is about studying the unknown, learning their language, and interpreting these findings to make sense of the field. Without compromising the unique research skills and social theory frameworks that anthropologists bring to industry, this workshop will help anthropologists successfully make the transition from academia to industry.

ORGANIZER/PRESENTER: Rachel Ceasar (University of California, Berkeley)

This session may be of particular interest to: Masters and doctoral students, adjuncts, practicing/applied researchers, consultants, entrepreneurs

5-0555 CRAFTING CREATIVE NONFICTION (SHA WRITING WORKSHOP)

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Humanistic Anthropology

This workshop describes the flexible genre of creative nonfiction and explores ways in which it can be employed to express anthropological insights in accessible ways to reach multiple audiences. We explore the story elements and writing choices which make these pieces work effectively, considering a wide range of possible formats, including: narrative structures, creatively framed stories, lyric essays, and journalistic style essays.

From her experience as the Creative Nonfiction Editor at Anthropology and Humanism, presenter Julia Offen addresses confusion about the genre and common problems writers encounter in their work. Including writing exercises, this workshop assists participants in developing effective creative prose and gives practical advice as participants work through their story ideas. Prior experience with creative writing is not necessary.

ORGANIZER/PRESENTER: Julia Offen (Independent)

This session may be of particular interest to: Appropriate for any level or area: expert creative writers or beginners, literary specialists or generalists, students through career levels through retired, academic or practicing/applied, and those concerned with any topic area or interest they wish to communicate effectively about.

10:30 AM - 12:30 PM | MR 112 | San Jose CC | Street Level

5-0560 THE ETHNOGRAFICTION FACTION: CREATIVE WRITING FOR RESISTANCE

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Humanistic Anthropology

Join this two-hour, two-part ethnografiction workshop led by novelist and literary anthropologist Ellen Wiles.

Part one involves short readings from ethnographic fiction, followed by a discussion about fiction and its role in anthropology, particularly in relation to activism and resistance. There are a myriad questions to explore in relation to the controversial intersection of creative writing and ethnography, echoing on from the Writing Culture debate. For instance, how much scope is there for invention in ethnography? How does fiction relate to notions of fact, evidence, humanism and truth in anthropology? What are the advantages and disadvantages of writing imagined characters and events in relation activism and resistance? Part two is a creative writing session exploring ways to craft ethnografictional texts and spur activism through imaginative prose, involving stimulating writing exercises, and the opportunity to read aloud and share your work-in-progress with others.

ORGANIZER/PRESENTER: Ellen Wiles (University of Stirling)

5-0675 AFTER NEOLIBERALISM, WHAT? A WORKSHOP ON HOW TO CONDUCT COMMUNITY-BASED RESEARCH

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Council on Anthropology and Education

This 2-hour, techniques-based workshop will (1) present the work of local community members from East Palo Alto-based “Anamatangi” who have been addressing local problems through “community-based research” (after Guajardo, Guajardo & Casaperalta, 2007). The workshop will then (2) help participants to develop strategies for agency and self-development in their own home communities. Long racialized and under-resourced, East Palo Alto had for decades been the target of research by professors from nearby Stanford University. In each case community members—African Americans, Pacific Islanders and Latina/os—were left “feeling like guinea pigs.” When the researchers left, the local result was always the same: “Nothing for us changed.” In identifying issues currently facing their own community—and then attracting grant funding to address those issues—East Palo Alto is seeking to throw off “the learned helplessness” of the minoritized neoliberal community and “top-down democracy” of today—and model a more direct and “bottom-up democracy.” Interventions are presently directed to parenting, youth suicide, homelessness, environmental protection, media, and the use of music and dance to reclaim ethnic identity. Workshop participants will be urged to (a) identify issues that are troubling communities that are dear to them, (b) consider strategies for those communities to address the problems themselves, and (c) anticipate how they might “scale up” their future work and outcomes via replication nationwide.

ORGANIZERS/PRESENTERS: Gregory Tanaka (Anamatangi and Center for the Study of Democracy and Social Change), Mamadee Uhila, Rev. Dan Taufalele, Violet Saena, Kitone Mokofisi, Mele Latu, Papa Sentar Uhila, Hon. Sharifa Wilson, Regina Walker-Jones, Erica Dominguez, Briana Evans, Tania Perez, Reyna Mendoza, Jennifer Lyons

This session may be of particular interest to: Students, applied researchers and non-anthropologists who are community leaders and activists and especially those who want to do something positive and proactive in lieu of just critiquing the existing democratic structures and personalities.

1:00 PM - 3:00 PM | MR 114 | San Jose CC | Street Level

5-0680 ANTHROPOLOGY AND TECH: HOW TO USE ANTHROPOLOGY IN TECH FIELDS (START-UPS, ADVERTISING, HUMAN DESIGN THINKING)

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: National Association for the Practice of Anthropology

Academic anthropology training provides deep and nuanced insights into human cultural practices, interactions, meaning-making, cognitive categories, and behavior. However, these insights often get "lost in translation" when we engage with fields outside of anthropology. The goal of this workshop is to provide methods to operationalize anthropological expertise and insights in technology arenas that are changing the way we live today (Mobile tech, Health IT, Human Design Thinking, UX Design, Social Media). Whether you would like to spread your wings and use your expertise in a new way or be inspired to take your own work in a new direction, Dr. Yaya Ren and Mr. Matt Herrmann, an anthropologist and advertising chief strategist will show you firsthand how they collaborate to take anthropology in new directions. Yaya has worked in human interaction consulting, and has most recently applied her academic research to launch a social benefit health start-up for premature infants. Matt is an award-winning seasoned strategist in the field of advertising, specializing in social media, tech, health and gaming. They have partnered over the years to produce many anthropologically informed strategy "white" papers in various sectors. Using case studies, discussions, workshop exercises, this workshop will teach you how to think about, translate, and provide deliverables that utilize anthropological insights in ways that appeal to sectors outside of anthropology. In addition, we will discuss where the trend in technology is heading and how to best apply anthropological skills in a post face-book/twitter tech world.

ORGANIZER/PRESENTER: Yaya Ren (PreeMe+You)

This session may be of particular interest to: Students, generalists, specialists, academic anthropologists, and P. Also for heads of academic departments interested in helping anthropology students find jobs outside of academia

5-0690 GAMER'S WORKSHOP: ANTHROPOLOGICAL APPROACHES TO GAME DESIGN

Workshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Visual Anthropology

From Bateson's and Mead's "Democracies and Dictators" to Tsing's and Pollman's "Global Futures", anthropologists have taken an interest in designing games to teach and communicate anthropological ideas. In this workshop, we will discuss tabletop, card, roleplaying, and computer games to explore themes in social, behavioral, and cultural theory such as play, cooperation, evolution and change, symbols, and power. The experiential and empathetic qualities of games can be a powerful medium for learning. In this workshop, we will engage gaming from a variety of perspectives, culminating in game design and play-testing. Game designers will introduce game design as a platform for the critique of power and the articulation of marginalized voices. Panelists will discuss and analyze how the narratives and mechanics of games convey meaning and engage players in a worldview. Since many popular games are based on colonial and Eurocentric premises, we will invite participants to reimagine, "hack", and decolonize games. The workshop includes a creative, hands-on design lab (maker space), facilitated by an experienced game designer, where we will learn about the basic elements of game design. Workshop participants will develop games based on anthropological theory and method. We will prototype and play-test the games produced in the workshop, as well as other anthro-inspired games and arcade games, during #AnthropologyCon II at the Hammer Theatre Center (off-site). For more information on the events taking place at #AnthropologyCon II, visit: www.anthropologycon.org

CRAFTING VISUAL ARGUMENTSWorkshop | Additional Registration Required

HOSTED BY: Society for Visual Anthropology

This interactive workshop will take you from conceptualizing and creating images in the field, to editing choices and post-production software, and end with considerations on publication and display. On the journey we will discuss technical matters as well as explore the ethical, theoretical, and methodological issues key to visual argumentation and communication. We start with a discussion on what makes a good image (both technically & aesthetically) and how to create one. From there we will advance to a discussion of the opportunities and constraints intrinsic to image-based research and representation. We will work around the question “what constitutes good visual argumentation?” developing specific guidelines for critiquing and constructing academic visual arguments and representations. Building on this framework, and foregrounding the comparative strengths and weaknesses of visual versus textual media, participants will then be given the opportunity to work on constructing their own “visual arguments.” Further development will then be facilitated via a group debriefing amongst workshop participants. Participants should bring a laptop computer or tablet. Sets of images will be provided, but feel free to bring your own series of 20-40 images related to your research interests.

Documentary Educational Resources . . . . . 508

Celebrating 50 years at the vanguard of producing, distributing and supporting film for cross-cultural understanding! A non-profit organization, DER offers worldwide distribution to over 800 ethnographic and non-fiction films. Our collection includes canonical works, including the Ju/hoansi "Bushmen" and Yanomamo films of DER founders, John Marshall and Timothy Asch, as well as the works of Robert Gardner, Asen Balikci, Hugo Zemp and Sarah Elder. We acquire about 15 new titles each year, by contemporary ethnographic filmmakers and researchers such as Steven Feld, Christian Suhr, Lina Fruzzetti, and Akos Oster, on topics ranging from ethnomusicology, to emerging political consciousness, truth and reconciliation processes to LGBTQ issues, as well as core anthropological areas. New releases include Camilla Nielsson's Democrats, Alastair Cole's Colours of the Alphabet, Darlene Johnson's The Redfern Story and Peter Biella and Leonard Kamerling's Changa Revisited. DER's other programming includes a filmmaker support program providing fiscal sponsorship and consulting services. New initiatives include planning Cinepedia Ethnographica, an online ethnographic and folkloric film catalogue, and the Yanomamo Film Preservation Project to ensure long-term preservation and access to the historic films.

Duke University Press . . . . . 401

TSQ: Transgender Studies Quarterly

Paisley Currah, Susan Stryker,
and Francisco J. Galarte, editors

TSQ offers a high-profile venue for innovative research and scholarship that contest the objectification, pathologization, and exoticization of transgender lives. It publishes interdisciplinary work that explores the diversity of gender, sex, sexuality, embodiment, and identity in ways that have not been adequately addressed by feminist and queer scholarship.
