Adjusting to the Denver Climate

It's called the mile high city for a reason (5,280 feet above sea level). The climate might be mild, and it might be sunny outside, but it's important to take care of yourself while attending the meeting. The air will likely be drier and thinner than you are used to normally. A good rule is to "Drink before you're thirsty, rest before you're tired." Here are a few tips:

- Drink Water
- Monitor Your Alcohol Intake
- Eat Foods High in Potassium
- Watch Your Physical Activity
- Pack for Sun
- Dress in Layers

GENERAL MEETING INFORMATION

Scholarly Events

Executive Sessions

As an orienting theme for the 114th AAA Annual Meeting, we invited proposals for Executive Program Committee that press us to grapple with how and why this strategy proves both productive and obstructive, considering what it simultaneously opens up and 'nails down.' We particularly sought proposals that brought together and fostered dialogue among sub-fields as we scrutinize the multiple uses and effects of this durable anthropological 'way of knowing.'

Invited Sessions

Sessions designated invited are open to all meeting registrants. Each AAA Section is responsible for the organization of one or more innovative, synthesizing sessions intended to reflect the state-of-the-art and the thematic concerns in the major subfields.

Poster Sessions

Poster Sessions are an evolving piece of the annual meeting and an exciting way to express your work. Our poster sessions will be active from Thursday to Saturday in the Four Seasons Foyer in the Colorado Convention Center. Stop by, learn something new, and be a part of the conversation!

Installations

Installations offer attendees an opportunity to learn from a range of vested interests not typically encountered or easily found on the traditional AAA program. Installations are meant to disrupt who and what we tend to see at the Annual Meetings, helping encounter presenters and attendees alike to do different kinds of things at the intersections of anthropological arts, sciences, and cultural expression.

Workshops

Workshops focus on engagement, interactivity, and in-depth analysis of pertinent methodologies and subjects within the field of anthropology. These sessions provide opportunities for attendees to update their knowledge and skills in a variety of professional areas. For ease of use, we have grouped workshops into found sections: Academic Training and Career Development, Practicing and Applied Career Development, Technical Skill Development, and Humanistic Anthropology. Please see the full session listings in the body of the program for more details on this year's selection. Unless explicitly noted, all workshops require registration beforehand to the annual meeting and the specific workshop; a monitor will check attendees into the workshop.

Film Sessions

Media sessions engage anthropology through a new lens. They are part of the AAA's Media Festival and include interactive media work as well as short works. For more information see the Society for Visual Anthropology's website at www.societyforvisualanthropology.org.

Retrospective Sessions

Retrospective Sessions are intended to highlight career contributions of established leading scholars (for example, on the occasion of their retirement or significant anniversary).

Roundtables

The roundtable provides a format to discuss critical social issues effecting anthropology; no papers are submitted for this format.

Special Events

12. In order to insure that there is adequate time to consider all matters scheduled to be considered by the body, the presiding officer may limit the time for consideration of each agenda item, the number of speakers to be recognized on each item and the amount of time available to each speaker.

GENERAL MEETING INFORMATION

AAA Principles of Professional Responsibility

AAA is dedicated to the dissemination of anthropological knowledge and its use to solve human problems. Anthropologists work in the widest variety of contexts studying all aspects of the human experience, and face myriad ethical quandaries inflected in different ways by the contexts in which they work and the kinds of issues they address. Seven core principles are shared across subfields and contexts of practice.

These core principles are expressed as concise statements, accompanied by brief discussions placing that principle in a broader context, along with more detailed examinations of how each affects or may be helpful to anthropologists in different subfields or work contexts. The Statement of Principles also offers resources to assist anthropologists in tackling difficult ethical issues or the new situations that inevitably arise in the production of knowledge.

The American Anthropological Association does not adjudicate assertions of unethical behavior. These principles are intended to educate, foster discussion, and serve as a guide to responsible decision-making.

1. Do No Harm
2. Be Open and Honest Regarding Your Work
3. Obtain Informed Consent and Necessary Permissions
4. Weigh Competing Ethical Obligations Due Collaborators and Affected Parties
5. Make Your Results Accessible
6. Protect and Preserve Your Records
7. Maintain Respectful and Ethical Professional Relationships

For more detailed information regarding the AAA Principles of Professional Responsibility, please visit: <http://ethics.aaanet.org/ethics-statement>.

Queer Inhumanisms

A special double issue of GLQ (21:2–3)

Mel Y. Chen and Dana Luciano, issue editors

A JOURNAL OF
LESBIAN AND GAY STUDIES
VOLUME 21 NUMBERS 2–3 JUNE 2015

Queer Inhumanisms

Edited by
MEL Y. CHEN AND DANA LUCIANO

This issue features a group of leading theorists from multiple disciplines who decenter the human in queer theory, exploring what it means to treat “the human” as simply one of many elements in a queer critical assemblage. Contributors argue that a nonhuman critical turn in queer theory can and should refocus the field’s founding attention to social structures of dehumanization and oppression.

ANTHROPOLOGY

from
CHICAGO

Current Anthropology

The leading source of anthropological scholarship on the human condition, past and present

Publishing the best theoretical and empirical research across all subfields of the discipline, ranging from the origins of the human species to the interpretation of the complexities of modern life.

WENNER-GREN SYMPOSIUM SERIES - Supplement 11

Politics of the Urban Poor: Aesthetics, Ethics, Volatility, Precarity

The lives of urban poor, and particularly their various forms of political involvement and activism, are shaped by a myriad of factors that go beyond basic material scarcity. The articles in this symposium cover a wide geographic range from South Asia, to Africa, to the Middle East, and to Latin America, and they demonstrate clearly that there is no single culture of poverty resulting in uniformity of life and expression.

Essentials of Cultural Anthropology

KENNETH J. GUEST, Baruch College

The essential tools for living in a multicultural and global age

Ken Guest's groundbreaking textbook is now available in a brief edition! Covering the essential concepts that drive the field today, Essentials of Cultural Anthropology: A Toolkit for a Global Age shows students that now, more than ever, global forces affect local culture, and that the tools of cultural anthropology are relevant to living in a globalizing world.

Also available

*Cultural Anthropology
Fieldwork Journal* can be packaged for free with either version of the text.

"[Cultural Anthropology] assists students in coming to their own understanding of the value of an anthropological perspective, helping them make sense of the complexities of globalization and the constantly changing world around them."
