The Anthropology of Contemporary Issues Series
General Editor: Roger Sanjek

This series will bring anthropological thinking and fieldwork to bear on such issues as ethnicity and immigration, changing families and life careers, conflict and political action, old and new symbolic forms, and transformations in urban and rural communities in America. The series will encourage diverse theoretical approaches, presenting the best work available in five key areas: political economy and social history, feminist studies, medical anthropology, ritual and symbolic anthropology, and social policy.

Forthcoming in the series

The Varieties of Ethnic Experience: Kinship, Class, and Gender among Italian-Americans in Northern California by Micaela di Leonardo

The Cult of the Goddess Pattini
Gananath Obeyesekere

"This book is a landmark in scholarship. It will be one of the classics on the religion of South Asia. It makes major contributions to religious studies, to anthropology, and to the history of Sri Lanka. Almost every subsection in the book is wholly original, and the presentation is clear and economical." — Richard Gombrich, Balliol College, Oxford University

"A person of wide international culture both humanistic and scientific, Obeyesekere remains committed to the deep study of his own rich Sinhalese heritage of rituals, myths, and symbols. In his work, innovation and tradition meet and mate." — Victor Turner, University of Virginia

Infanticide:
Comparative And Evolutionary Perspectives
Edited by:
Sarah Blaffer Hrdy, Harvard University
Glenn Hausfater, University of Missouri
A landmark collection of original papers and review articles that will stand for years as the authoritative summary of the evolutionary significance of infanticide.

Navajo Infancy
An Ethological Study of Child Development
James S. Chisholm, University of New Mexico.
An illuminating discussion of the relationship between human nature and culture, combining the concepts and methods of classical ethology, developmental psychology, and social-cultural anthropology.

"...Chisholm's findings surely defy any meaningful division of life into cultural or biological spheres, or any preference for one kind of factor (social, psychological, biological) over another. ...He tries to show exactly how the factors interact; the interactions are profound. ..."
N G. Blurton Jones

“Biological Foundations of Human Behavior”
Series Editors
Richard Wrangham, University of Michigan
Melvin Konner, Emory University
Predicated upon the assumption that the human behavioral sciences are presently at the threshold of explanations via biological causes, the series concentrates on human evolution, human ethology, brain and behavior, biological psychiatry, behavioral genetics, developmental psychobiology, and sociobiology. Although most of the interdisciplinary studies in the series deal with human behavior, relevant topics in other species are covered.

SEX AND FRIENDSHIP IN BABOONS. 1985
"A conventional piece of Saramaka wisdom likens women to hearthstones and men to axe handles. Once a set of hearthstones is fashioned and placed in a house, it is never moved away, just as a girl who is born into a community is expected to stay there and, eventually, produce children for her own lineage. In contrast, an axe handle, carried from place to place, is simply thrown away wherever it happens to break, just as a boy is raised to travel all around, providing offspring for others but leaving none for his own lineage."

— the author

Co-wives and Calabashes is a book about women's lives in one polygamous society. The society is that of the Saramaka Maroons of Suriname. It is a society that anthropologist Sally Price knows well. She has studied the Saramaka for over fifteen years, and spent three years living in the interior of Suriname where she not only observed the traditional role of women, but lived it herself. Out of that experience comes this book about the roles and expectations of Saramaka women... about their relationships with men and with one another... and about the artistic expression of those roles and relationships. A volume in the Women and Culture Series.

RUTGERS II BOOKS

FOOD, SEX, AND POLLUTION
A New Guinea Religion
Anna S. Meigs
Meigs studies the hundreds of rules about food in Hua society and how they symbolize social relationships and tensions between men and women. "A work of great importance not only for anthropologists and students of Highland New Guinea, but for students of symbolism, religion, and psychology, as well." Ward Goodenough
190 pages. $22.50 cloth

THE LANGUAGE OF SECRECY
Symbols and Metaphors in Poro Ritual
Beryl Bellman
With a Foreword by James W. Fernandez
Bellman studies the Apelle in West Africa, followers of the Poro secret society, and how the paradox of their secrets is the construction that allows them to be told. "Original contributions to the study of secrecy as a social phenomenon and to the study of Poro society as an African phenomenon." Ben G. Blount
Approx. 192 pages. $25.00 cloth

TIBETAN REFUGEES
Youth and the New Generation of Meaning
Margaret Nowak
Using approaches of symbolic anthropology, Nowak analyzes how a young generation of Tibetan refugees manages to interpret the tension between their past in Tibet and their present in India, while interweaving a parallel theme: her own search as a fieldworker, to "rescue meaning" in a strange environment.
Approx. 235 pages. $29.00 cloth

LANGUAGE AND LIVING THINGS
Cecil Brown
Brown assembles data from 188 languages to show uniformity in the way humans name and classify plants and animals at the life-form level of abstraction, finding that life-form categories and terms for them tend to be added to the vocabularies of languages in more or less set sequences.
299 pages. $35.00. February

POLITICAL AUTHORITY IN A SICILIAN VILLAGE

EMIGRATION IN A SOUTH ITALIAN TOWN
An Anthropological History
William A. Douglass
Combining the methods of several disciplines, Douglass examines the causes and consequences of emigration from Agnone, a town in South Italy, to countries all over the world. "A first rate contribution to the field of emigration studies." Samuel Bailey
Approx. 344 pages. $35.00 cloth

FAMILY LIFE IN CENTRAL ITALY, 1880-1910
Sharecropping, Wage Labor and Coresidence
David I. Kertzer
Kertzer suggests that revisionist historians may be right in their assumptions about the nuclear family in some of Europe, but not for central Italy. Concentrating on Bertalia, near Bologna, from 1880-1910, he demonstrates that complex households were common. Kertzer studies conditions that affect family structure and how this structure changes over time.

Verbal Legacy of the Upper Cumberland
WILLIAM LYNWOOD MONTELL
In this historical portrayal of a river and the people who have made their living along its banks and tributaries for 150 years, the author has drawn upon the residents for most of the information, gathering over a period of five years personal recollections and oral traditions. 256 pages. Illustrations. $16.50

FORTHCOMING!
THE BLACK SPIRITUAL MOVEMENT
A Religious Response to Racism
HANS A. BAER
"The Black Spiritual Movement is a genuine contribution to the understanding of Afro-American developments in religious thought. The solid ethnography and history in this book go a long way towards revising the easy generalizations which have passed for knowledge about Black 'fundamentalism.' And like all good work in Afro-American studies, it tells us a great deal about the rest of America as well."—John F. Szwed, University of Pennsylvania. 272 pages. $23.95

APPALACHIA AND AMERICA
Autonomy and Regional Dependence
ALLEN BATTEAU, editor. This collection of fourteen essays on the family, religion, health, education, and land use deals cogently with the newest form of conflict affecting not only communities in Appalachia, but urban and rural communities in America at large—the struggle for local values and ways of life in the face of distant and powerful bureaucracies. 296 pages $26.00

SEEDTIME ON THE CUMBERLAND
HARRIETTE SIMPSON ARNOW
"An important contribution to our knowledge of early America. It is also a book of great interest, and it should rivet the attention of a wide audience. It is seldom that so fresh a piece of historical writing comes into view. . . . Mrs. Arnow treats in great detail the adventures, perils, household life, agriculture, industry, commerce, religion, and mental outlook of the early settlers of the Tennessee and Cumberland regions"—Allan Nevins. 480 pages Cloth $28.00; Paper $13.00

GENERATIONS
An American Family
JOHN EGERTON "A stunning work of oral history, and the most remarkable portrait of an Appalachian family that I have ever read. This book sets standards as a model that the rest of us will now have to aspire to"—Eliot Wigginton, editor of Foxfire. "A rich contribution to the Americana treasury"—Publishers Weekly. 272 pages $19.50

THE INVISIBLE MINORITY
Urban Appalachians
WILLIAM W. PHILLIBER & CLYDE B. MCCOY, editors. "An important contribution to an understanding of migration from Appalachia and of migration adjustments"—Geographical Review. "A significant contribution to the growing body of knowledge about Appalachians"—Appalachian Educator. "Outstanding. . . . Can provide guidelines for research, a bibliography of methodologies, and a framework for discussing rural to urban migration throughout the world"—Urban Studies. 208 pages $18.00

KENTUCKY QUILTS AND THEIR MAKERS
MARY WASHINGTON CLARKE "A personalized and highly informative book on quilting; her stylistic presentation captures and reflects the most important essence of quilting: the sense of pride, friendship, and community innate to the art"—Tennessee Folklore Society Bulletin. "Mary Clarke's warm, chatty style makes Kentucky Quilts a pleasant book to read, one that makes you long for a rocking chair, the front porch on a sunny afternoon, and the companionship of an experienced quilter busily plying her craft amid a steady stream of conversation"—Early American Life. 136 pages $12.00

Dominance and Defiance: A Study of Marital Instability in an Islamic African Society, Anthropological Studies No. 6, by Ronald Cohen. Divorce is a well-established practice among the Kanuri of Nigeria, whose marriage rituals, sex roles, and patterns of family dissolution provide insight into universal problems of marriage and the family. $4.00 ($2.50)

Princes of the Earth: Subcultural Diversity in a Mexican Municipality, Special Publication No 2, by Barbara Luise Margolies. Based on fieldwork in a rural Mexican municipality, this study investigates the long-range repercussions of the Mexican Revolution among Indians and Mestizos, shedding light on the study of other American revolutions, historical and current. $4.00 ($2.50)

Formal Methods in Economic Anthropology, Special Publication No. 4, edited by Stuart Plattner. Statistical techniques and formal theory increasingly are being applied to the analysis of empirical data in anthropological research. In this book, eight innovators and scholars in economic anthropology detail analytic style in simulation and fieldwork experience. $4.00 ($2.50)

The Societies of Borneo: Explorations in the Theory of Cognatic Social Structure, Special Publication No. 6, edited by G. N. Appell. Providing a fresh look at the importance of the cognatic society, this collection of papers suggests new directions in theory of kinship and social/cultural organization. $4.00 ($2.50)

The Uses of Anthropology, Special Publication No. 11, edited by Walter Goldschmidt. This collection of reports by leaders in the field details how anthropology is an effective and forceful influence in technology and the course of world events. $7.50 ($5.00)

Health in the Andes, Special Publication No. 12, edited by Joseph W. Bastien and John M. Donahue. Health maintenance in the Andes is the focus of this volume, which examines how Andeans deal with sickness using myth and ritual, how they maintain physical well-being through physiological and cultural adaptation to an environment with dietary restrictions, diurnal temperature climate, and high altitude. Suggestions for improvement of health conditions conclude the essays. $15.00 ($10.00)

Selected Papers from the American Anthropologist

These three volumes, published in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of the American Anthropological Association and in recognition of its major role as the publisher of the nation's oldest and most illustrious anthropological journal, comprehensively represent the trends and interests within anthropology through the various phases of its history, reflecting the highest qualitative standards of the American Anthropologist and the discipline it serves.

1888-1920 edited by Frederica de Laguna
Selections in this volume represent the interests and accomplishments in American anthropology from the establishment of the American Anthropologist through World War I, chosen to exhibit the theoretical, methodological and factual contributions in as many aspects of anthropology as possible, and by as many authors. To illustrate the growth of the discipline, some contemporary surveys and historical summaries, as well as significant book reviews and obituaries, are also included. An introductory essay by A. Irving Hallowell, as well as the editor's Selected Bibliography on the History of Anthropology and introductory notes to the reprinted articles, provide a valuable historical perspective. (This is a reissue of the 1960 edition published by Row, Peterson and Company for the AAA.)

1921-1945 edited by George W. Stocking, Jr.
The interwar period was one of intellectual and institutional diversification in American anthropology, as the students of Franz Boas followed out the diverging leads implicit in their mentor's ambiguous orientation between science and history. Responding to new intellectual influences mediated by departmental affiliations with sociology and the interdisciplinary movement in the social sciences, as well as by fieldwork situations quite different from those of the American Indian reservation, anthropology in the United States turned from historical reconstruction toward synchronic study. Simultaneously, the traditional unity of the field was threatened by "centrifugal forces of specialization" reflected in the creation of new professional organizations in each subdiscipline. In the context of possibilities for government support opened up by the discipline's participation in the war effort, however, the organizational unit of a general science of man was preserved in the restructuring of the AAA after World War II. The editor's introductory essay provides an in-depth historical analysis of the period.

1946-1970 edited by Robert F. Murphy
This volume represents a cross-section of anthropological thought during the past quarter century, providing a sampling from the subfields of anthropology and from its various theoretical and topical directions, and at the same time presenting those essays of greatest merit and influence. The selections, together with the editor's summary history of the discipline during the period, yield a volume that encapsulates the recent history of anthropology, both in the United States and abroad.

The American Anthropological Association, founded in 1902 to advance anthropology in all its aspects, is the world's largest organization of individuals interested in anthropology. Through publications, meetings, and programs, the Association encourages scholarly and professional communication among anthropologists and promotes the public understanding and uses of anthropology. The AAA carries on the tradition of holism. In it you will find members from every subfield and every employment setting. If you have a professional or scholarly interest in anthropology we invite you to join.

Dues ($50) include subscriptions to The American Anthropologist, a quarterly journal devoted to scholarly articles, reviews, reports, and commentary; and the Anthropology Newsletter, published nine times a year, which reports current developments affecting the profession. Discounted dues ($25) are available to students, persons permanently residing outside the United States, and spouses. Members also receive reduced rates for occasional publications, annual meeting registration, placement service, and other programs.
